the landscape of psychoanalysis has changed at times dramatically in the hundred or so years since freud first began to think and write about it freudian theory and concepts have risen fallen evolved mutated and otherwise reworked themselves in the hands and minds of analysts the world over leaving us with a theoretically pluralistic yet threateningly multifarious diffusion of psychoanalytic viewpoints to help make sense of it all morris eagle sets out to critically reevaluate fundamental psychoanalytic concepts of theory and practice in a topical manner beginning at the beginning he reintroduces freud s ideas in chapters on the mind object relations psychopathology and treatment he then approaches the same topics in terms of more contemporary psychoanalytic schools in each chapter however there is an underlying emphasis on identification and integration of converging themes which is reemphasized in the final chapter relevant empirical research findings are used throughout thus basic concepts such as repression are reexamined in the light of more contemporary developments this book contains eighteen papers all more or less linked to the theory of dynamical systems together with related studies of chaos and fractals it shows many fractal configurations that were generated by computer calculations of underlying two dimensional maps in recent years increasing concern has been voiced about the nature and extent of human experimentation and its impact on the investigator subject science and society this casebook represents the first attempt to provide comprehensive materials for studying the human experimentation process through case studies from medicine biology psychology sociology and law as well as evaluative materials from many other disciplines dr katz examines the problems raised by human experimentation from the vantage points of each of its major participants investigator subject professions and state he analyzes what kinds of authority should be delegated to these participants in the formulation administration and review of the human experimentation process alternative proposals from allowing investigators a completely free hand to imposing centralized governmental control are examined from both theoretical and practical perspectives the conceptual framework of experimentation with human beings is designed to facilitate not only the analysis of such concepts as harm benefit and informed consent but also the exploration of the problems raised by man s quest for knowledge and mastery his willingness to risk human life and his readiness to delegate authority to professionals and rely on their judgment
