fourth grade is ground zero in the fierce debates about education reform in america it s when kids well some of them make the shift from learning to read to reading to learn and tomes have been written about the fourth grade year by educators administrators philosophers and pundits now in a fascinating and groundbreaking book inda schaenen adds the voices of actual fourth grade kids to the conversation schaenen a journalist turned educator spent a year traveling across the state of missouri the geographical and spiritual center of the country visiting fourth grade classrooms of every description public private urban rural religious charter speaking of fourth grade looks at how our different approaches to education stack up against one another and chronicles what kids at the heart of our great democratic education experiment have to say about what makes a good teacher and what makes a good student as well as what they think about the accelerated reader programs that dominate public school classrooms high stakes testing and the very purpose of school in the first place a brilliant and original work at the intersection of oral history sociology and journalism speaking of fourth grade offers unique insight into the personal consequences of national education policy the voices of the children in speaking of fourth grade will stay with readers parents teachers and others for many years to come during your initial read of this resource you may find that some of the key points are not yet relevant to your child imagine if you will reading the owner s manual to your car initially you may peruse the manual finding that not all of the features or instructions are immediately helpful but as you drive the car for a period of time you may find yourself referring to the manual to find important information use this book in the same manner read initially to gain a baseline understanding of what to expect this year then pickup the book throughout the year when you are faced with new questions or difficulties by the end of the fourth grade you may have a book with dog eared pages highlighted passages and favorite nuggets of information this year the brown center analyzes individual math items from the national assessment of education progress naep attempting to gauge the countrys computation skills taking three different perspectives this book looks at primary school children's language learning motivation and language attitudes in adopting a longitudinal perspective the book fills a research gap and provides a macro level analysis of motivational development over time it reveals a surprising amount of stability in primary school children's motivational and attitudinal development the comparative perspective looks at the learners affective dispositions with regard to english theorized as a global language and french theorized as a national language the comparisons between global language and national language are relevant across the world especially in situations where instruction in languages other than english struggles to get attention the results reveal sizeable differences between the two languages with children being substantially more motivated to learn english than to learn french finally the explanatory section identifies key antecedents of the learners motivational and attitudinal dispositions and thereby opens up paths for intervention relevant for those working in the field of language instruction it is with both pride and sadness that we publish the twentieth and last volume of advances in clinical child psychology this series has seen a long and successful run starting under the editorship of ben lahey and alan kazdin who passed the baton to us at volume 14 we are grateful to the many contributors over the years and to the plenum staff for producing a quality product in a timely manner this volume covers a diverse array of significant topics in the opening chapter maughan and rutter explore the research literatures related to continuity and discontinuity of antisocial behavior from childhood to adulthood their review and conceptualization emphasize the significance of hyperactivity and inattention early onset conduct problems low reactivity to stress and poor peer relations as potentially influential variables in the persistence of antisocial behavior social cognitions environmental continuities substance abuse cumulative chains of life events and protective processes are considered as well
