countless studies have assessed the dramatic reforms of mikhaïl gorbachev but their analysis of the impact on European communism has focused overwhelmingly on the Soviet Union and Eastern Bloc nations. This ambitious collection takes a much broader view, reconstructing and evaluating the historical trajectories of glasnost and perestroika on both sides of the Iron Curtain, moving beyond domestic politics and foreign relations narrowly defined. The research gathered here constitutes a transnational survey of these reforms' collective impact, showing how they were variably received and implemented and how they shaped the prospects for proletarian internationalism in diverse political contexts.

Positioned on the fault line between two competing Cold War ideological and military alliances and entangled in ethnic, cultural, and religious diversity, the Balkan region offers a particularly interesting case for the study of the global Cold War system. This book explores the origins, unfolding, and impact of the Cold War on the Balkans, on the one hand, and the importance of regional realities and pressures, on the other. Fifteen contributors from history, international relations, and political science address a series of complex issues rarely covered in one volume: namely, the Balkans and the creation of the Cold War order; military alliances and the Balkans' uneasy relations with the superpowers; Balkan dilemmas in the 1970s and 1980s; and the significant other, the EEC and identity, culture, and ideology. The book's particular contribution to the scholarship of the Cold War is that it draws on extensive multi-archival research of both regional and American, ex-Soviet and Western European archives.

A history of reparations from a comparative and transnational perspective, tracing back to their origins in the final years of the Second World War.

A volume of original essays that reassesses the Soviet Union's impact on Europe before, during, and after World War II.

Provides a systematic history from prehistory to the establishment of the Czech Republic.

A selection of papers from a conference held in honour of Professor Hugh Seton Watson on the occasion of his retirement in 1983. The aim of the contributors is to illustrate the role of the historian in the political life of Central and East European nations.
