do you ever wish that you could be someone else just step out of your life and wake up as someone new karina s life was once mapped out for her she was meant to follow in the footsteps of her hungarian grandmother a world famous violinist instead she's a teacher a mum and wife to Julian a very English husband who's not always in step with her but when disaster befalls her best friend Karina feels forced to question the very foundations of her existence encouraged by a chance encounter with a like-minded musician she begins to delve into her grandmother's gypsy past and to discover the secrets of her Hungarian family history life will never be the same again like most people Karina isn't sure the life she chose was the right one but she is willing to take drastic steps to change it with business and vacation travel on the rise etiquette has gone global this guide gives idiot-proof steps to looking one's best at any social event and guidance on mastering the traditions of other cultures most books in English on poetics deal with abstract and theoretical issues with a few mostly English examples whereas this book focuses on the formal aiming to provide a concise systematic overview of the linguistic context of European poetics it is richly documented with concrete examples particularly from Hungarian and other languages and traditions of Europe in many parts of the world it is not a person's native language but a foreign one which is used for education work or entertainment this is true for many European countries whose inhabitants need to learn English as a foreign language if they want to participate in education or among diverse fields in the workforce in other parts of the world it might be Spanish Hindi Mandarin Chinese Arabic or other languages which will be serving a similar role this need for learning a second language is understood well in many educational programs including those for students with special educational needs however to date there is not much research of the experiences of persons with diverse additional needs as learners of foreign languages the most robust literature covers the field of additional language acquisition among deaf and hard of hearing dhh people cf Domagała Zyśk Podlowska Moritz 2021 and others goals methods and forms of teaching are fairly well described and dhh students' needs have been documented extensively what makes a person pack up and move to another country what does she or he hope to gain from the experience how do children fit into the picture our international education presents the stories of three American women a university professor a high school math teacher and a high school English as a second language teacher who move to Hungary for a year to teach each woman brings her young children and enrolls them in local Hungarian public schools though none of them speak Hungarian at the beginning of the experience the autoethnographic stories that make up our international education weave together the personal and professional dimensions of life abroad illuminating not only the realities of negotiating work school and family life in another country but also the complexities of cultural adjustment and second language acquisition first person storytelling makes this book a compelling read for those considering a move abroad with their family and an excellent supplemental narrative for those studying second language acquisition acculturation autoethnography and international education these interconnected stories of three women and their children living in hungary offer an alternately uplifting and heartrending look at what families face when overseas the co authors present a deeply personal and vivid account of their bold adventure from the initial thrill to the gradual revelation that life abroad is not always the carefree romp that some might perceive our international education masterfully demonstrates the unequivocal impact of cross cultural understanding eleni kounalakis united states ambassador to hungary 2010 2013 and author of madam ambassador three years of diplomacy dinner parties and democracy in budapest the book seeks to determine the policies of five hungarian kings especially the policy of king stephen i with special attention to the role of bishop gerard of csanad this policy was a political and cultural undertaking as christianization of the realm represented the reorganization of the hungarian social political structure along western lines of political thought
