in a period when the nature and scope of the european internal market is hotly contested this collection offers a topical analysis of the most pressing issues relating to market integration and public services in the eu as the debate continues over the balance between state control and market freedom questions are also raised about the relationship between eu regulation and national policy choices and the joint responsibility of the union and the member states outlining the most important current issues relating to market integration and public services in the eu this book also addresses the underlying systemic questions of the relation between public services and markets and services and the consumer chapters also examine the application of state aids and procurement law to public services the final two chapters focus on two public service sectors where the mix of treaty rules case law and legislation has operated in rather different ways public service media and health services this book provides an original research perspective to the field of contemporary urban conflicts even though violent conflicts have transformed cities during the xx century it is nowadays possible to identify the phenomenon of tensions as a specific contemporary both social and spatial urban changes catalyst through a collection of essays from various disciplines focusing on international case studies from india to europe to latin america the publication explores the multifaceted concept of spatial tensions as a lens for better understanding contemporary urban transformations while tensions often depend on spatial dispositives and superstructures they also offer a powerful key for design practices and strategies the emotions of internationalism follows a number of international people and institutions active in the alps in the 1920s and 1930s exploring how they understood emotions and how they tried to employ them to achieve their political and non political goals through the analysis of a broad spectrum of unpublished archival materials in four languages english french italian and german this study takes readers on an evocative historical journey through the alps a wide range of characters populate its pages from heidi and the protagonists of novels and films set on the mountains to woodrow wilson and other high level political figures active both inside and outside of the league of nations to the alpinists and climbers engaged in hikes and international congresses to the many children involved in camping trips to the countless patients of the sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis which for decades used to dot alpine villages and to excite the popular imagination at the centre of the volume are people s emotions real and imagined from the resentment left after the first world war to the friendship evoked in speeches and concretely implemented in a number of alpine settings for a variety of purposes to the joy that contemporaries saw as the key to navigating the complexities of modernity and to avoiding another war the result is a compelling overview of the institutions and people involved in international cooperation in the 1920s and 1930s understood through the lens of the history of emotions the book examines the experiences of black women in italy from the 1970s to the 1990s although italy is still perceived as a recent immigration country the book demonstrates how black women were among the first groups of new migrants to the country black women migrating to italy were employed almost exclusively as live in domestic workers and detailed attention is paid to the history and political organization of this sector unlike much published work in italian this book adopts an integrated form of analysis where gender ethnicity and class are seen to be interconnected constructs the book also situates black women within the framework of the national constituency of gender this approach challenges the ideology surrounding the italian family and demonstrates that while live in domestic work created specific forms of social marginality for black women it paradoxically allowed italian women to express their new social identities within and outside the family the book concludes that italian women have largely failed in their attempts to transform the division of labour within the home and that the decision to employ other migrant women to fulfill household tasks is a trend which sits uneasily within the framework of an inclusive feminist project for women at the end of the second world war america's newly acquired status of hegemonic power together with the launch of ambitious international programs such as the marshall plan significantly altered existing transatlantic relations in this context italian and american architectural cultures developed a fragile dialogue characterized by successful exchanges and forms of collaboration but also by reciprocal wariness the dissemination of models and ideas concerning architecture generated complex effects and frequently led to surprising misinterpretations obstinate forms of resistance and long negotiations between the involved parties issues of continuity and discontinuity dominated italian culture and society at the time since at stake was the possible balance between allegedly long established traditions and the prospect of a radical rupture with recent history architectural culture often contributed to reach a compromise between very diverging attitudes situated in the larger realm of studies on americanization this book questions current interpretations of transatlantic relations in architecture by reconsidering the means and effects of the dialogue that unfolded between the two sides of the atlantic during the postwar years the volume analyzes how cultural and formal models were developed in one context and then modified when transferred to a new one as well as the fortune of this cultural exchange in terms of circulation amplification and simplification refuge in a moving world draws together more than thirty contributions from multiple disciplines and fields of research and practice to discuss different ways of engaging with and responding to migration and displacement the volume combines critical reflections on the complexities of conceptualizing processes and experiences of forced migration with detailed analyses of these experiences in contemporary and historical settings from around the world through interdisciplinary approaches and methodologies including participatory research poetic and spatial interventions ethnography theatre discourse analysis and visual methods the volume documents the complexities of refugees and migrants journeys this includes a particular focus on how people inhabit and negotiate everyday life in cities towns camps and informal settlements across the middle east and north africa southern and eastern africa and europe girolamo donzellini was born in 1513 he was a religious dissenter a physician and a bibliophile involved in the medical republic of letters he was put to death by the venetian inquisition in 1587 after being tried five times in his lifetime extending beyond an individual case study to a granular and probing account of the many connections between venetian physicians and heterodox religious movements in the wake of the protestant reformation this innovative monograph reveals the heretical networks of physicians in sixteenth century venice in addition to donzellini himself the web of actors includes printers scholars women and alchemists who were all committed to fighting against religious dogma and violence in a time and place when both were the order of the day this book will appeal to researchers and students alike interested in the history of medicine the history of religious heterodoxy and tolerance as well as the history of the
