this comprehensive study investigates the consequential validity of the central chinese proficiency test hsk from micro classroom to macro society perspectives it advances the scope of validity studies and addresses pedagogical and methodological issues in chinese as a second foreign heritage csl teaching and learning but also complements efforts made to broaden the understanding of foreign language education this work also provides implications for hsk s future development and revision and will also help hsk developers clarify how the test can be used and help the test users to build their assessment literacy china has huge ethnic minorities over 40 different groups with a total population of over 100 million over time china s policies towards minority languages have varied changing from policies which have accommodated minority languages to policies which have encouraged integration at present integrationist policies predominate notably in the education system where instruction in minority languages is being edged out in favour of instruction in mandarin chinese this book assesses the current state of indigenous and minority language policy in china it considers especially language policy in the education system including in higher education and provides detailed case studies of how particular ethnic minorities are being affected by the integrationist or assimilationist approach with internationalization high on the agenda of education providers worldwide the complex relationship between intercultural communication and the international student phenomenon deserves close study being an international student is a great opportunity to be exposed to a new language and culture and to develop intercultural communication skills traditionally the phrase international students refers to those who undertake all or part of their education in a country other than their own for present purposes though we adopt a broad definition of the phrase to include transnational education the students who are often regarded as international students by their awarding institutions the number of international students pursuing tertiary education reached 6.3 million in 2020 up from 2 million in 2000 and this number continues to grow unesco institute of statistics 2023 the recent decade has also seen a tremendous expansion of the especially during the covid 19 pandemic both in terms of size and scale the is the delivery of education in a country other than the one in which the degree granting institution is based the takes many diverse forms including dual degrees joint institutes and international branch campuses to name but a few in many cases students can get a foreign degree without ever leaving their home country or region research on international students is often scattered across different disciplines including communication education psychology and language and linguistics the field of intercultural communication a term often used interchangeably with cross cultural communication investigates how people from different cultural backgrounds communicate the combination of intercultural communication and international students is a broad and fascinating topic of research extant research on the topic has mainly focused on the following areas international students perceptions of intercultural communication the difficulties faced by international students and the correlations between different variables e.g. intercultural communication competence and effectiveness, intergroup anxiety, intercultural sensitivity, attitude towards other cultures, meta-stereotypes, sensation seeking, ethnocentrism, empathy, mindfulness, and motivation to engage in intercultural communication. These studies have offered valuable insights into the predictors of intercultural communication competence and effectiveness and the pathways for developing this competence and effectiveness. However, intercultural communication and international students is a complex topic that requires a multifaceted approach that transcends disciplinary boundaries. Research on the topic is lagging behind the growth of student numbers and there are many gaps and underexplored areas. For example, the students have rarely been studied from an intercultural communication perspective and international students' perceptions of intercultural communication are much less explored than those of faculty and home students. Additionally, while academic advising has been found to be vital to international student success, academic advisers have reported a lack of institutional training on how to deal with international students. The actual intercultural interactions of and with international students have rarely been studied in detail. Against this background, this research topic seeks to create interdisciplinary dialogue and cooperation, exploring the gaps and underexamined areas of intercultural communication and international students. Themes to be addressed include but are not limited to the following: language and communication, intercultural communication competence and effectiveness, intercultural interaction, international student experience, transnational education, the internationalization
