in this comprehensive sociorhetorical interpretation of colossians roy r jeal explores the letter s portrayal of the grand vision that extends from the realm of god before the creation of the cosmos to the new reality and new culture of the life of fullness in christ the commentary analyzes the pictures the text evokes in the human visual imagination identifies the persuasive modes of discourse in the letter and evaluates the range of textures that interweave to produce the dynamic rhetorical argument of colossians demands to conform to empty deceitful philosophy human tradition and the elements of the world rather than to christ are irrelevant for believers who have been transferred from darkness to the light of the son of god s kingdom the rhetoric of the letter moves believers to ideologies of living in the body of christ where orderly behavior guided by love contrasts with the chaotic self indulgent divisive uncertainties of mediterranean existence in the world s most developed democracies anxiety about the future of democracy is palpable the tension between moral aspiration and moral despair has reached a point of crisis christian realism arose during a similar time of crisis when reinhold niebuhr used the insights of the christian tradition to interpret the clash between democracy and totalitarianism beginning with robin lovin s account of christian realism as a nuanced blend of theological moral and political realisms the future of christian realism addresses fundamental topics in theology ethics and politics the contributors come from different traditions span five continents and together present a case for the continuing relevance of christian realism by paying close attention to many of the most pressing moral challenges facing societies today the authors illustrate and evaluate the enduring relevance of christian realism
