winner sperber prize 2018 for the best biography of a journalist the first and definitive biography of an audacious adventurer the most famous journalist of his time who more than anyone invented contemporary journalism tom brokaw says lowell thomas so deserves this lively account of his legendary life he was a man for all seasons mitchell stephens s the voice of america is a first rate and much needed biography of the great lowell thomas nobody can properly understand broadcast journalism without reading stephens's riveting account of this larger than life globetrotting radio legend douglas brinkley professor of history at rice university and author of cronkite few americans today recognize his name but lowell thomas was as well known in his time as any american journalist ever has been raised in a colorado gold rush town thomas covered crimes and scandals for local then chicago newspapers he began lecturing on alaska after spending eight days in alaska then he assigned himself to report on world war i and returned with an exclusive the story of lawrence of arabia in 1930 lowell thomas began delivering america's initial radio newscast his was the trusted voice that kept americans abreast of world events in turbulent decades his face familiar too as the narrator of the most popular newsreels his contemporaries were also dazzled by his life in a prime time special after thomas died in 1981 walter cronkite said that thomas had crammed a couple of centuries worth of living into his eighty nine years thomas delighted in entering forbidden countries tibet for example where he met the teenaged dalai lama the explorers club has named its building its awards and its annual dinner after him journalists in the last decades of the twentieth century including cronkite and tom brokaw acknowledged a profound debt to thomas though they may not know it journalists today too are following a path he blazed in the voice of america mitchell stephens offers a hugely entertaining sometimes critical portrait of this larger than life figure domesticating empire is the first contextually oriented monograph on egyptian imagery in roman households caitlín barrett draws on case studies from flavian pompeii to investigate the close association between representations of egypt and a particular type of roman household space the domestic garden through paintings and mosaics portraying the Nile canals that turned the garden itself into a miniature nilscape and statuary depicting egyptian themes many gardens in pompeii offered ancient visitors evocations of a roman vision of egypt simultaneously faraway and familiar these imagined landscapes made the unfathomable breadth of empire compatible with the familiarity of home in contrast to older interpretations that connect roman aegyptiaca to the worship of egyptian gods or the problematic concept of egyptomania a contextual analysis of these garden assemblages suggests new possibilities for meaning in pompeian houses egyptian and egyptian looking objects and images interacted with their settings to construct complex entanglements of foreign and familiar self and other representations of egyptian landscapes in domestic gardens enabled individuals to present themselves as sophisticated citizens of empire yet at the same time household material culture also exerted an agency of its own domesticizing familiarizing and romanizing once foreign images and objects that which was once imagined as alien and potentially dangerous was now part of the domus itself increasingly incorporated into cultural constructions of what it meant to be roman featuring brilliant illustrations in both color and black and white domesticating empire reveals the importance of material culture in transforming household space into a microcosm of empire
