this book takes the reader on a sweeping tour of the international legal field to reveal some of the patterns of difference dominance and disruption that belie international law s claim to universality pulling back the curtain on the divisible college of international lawyers anthea roberts shows how international lawyers in different states regions and geopolitical groupings are often subject to distinct incoming influences and outgoing spheres of influence in ways that reflect and reinforce differences in how they understand and approach international law these divisions manifest themselves in contemporary controversies such as debates about crimea and the south china sea not all approaches to international law are created equal however using case studies and visual representations the author demonstrates how actors and materials from some states and groups have come to dominate certain transnational flows and forums in ways that make them disproportionately influential in constructing the international this point holds true for western actors materials and approaches in general and for anglo american and sometimes french ones in particular however these patterns are set for disruption as the world moves past an era of western dominance and toward greater multipolarity it is imperative for international lawyers to understand the perspectives and approaches of those coming from diverse backgrounds by taking readers on a comparative tour of different international law academies and textbooks the author encourages them to see the world through the eyes of others an essential skill in this fast changing world of shifting power dynamics and rising nationalism

the asian infrastructure investment bank aiib which began operations in 2016 and now has an approved membership of eighty four worldwide has quickly become perhaps one of the world's most promising agents of global economic development with its firm commitments to the twenty first century imperatives of cost effectiveness zero tolerance for corruption and active promotion of environmental sustainability its clearly stated aims and requirements echo the goal of reform that other multilateral institutions are undertaking this book is among the first to offer an incisive introduction to the aiib's law and governance which are now essentially in place from a perspective of chinese multilateralism which parts ways from the dominant twentieth century bretton woods arrangements the author provides in great depth the details of such elements of the bank's articles of agreement as the following non resident board system procurement role of trust funds state owned enterprises as private entities immunity dispute settlement accountability for involuntary resettlement and human rights violations and policy on prohibited practices throughout the author provides deeply informed comparisons with such existing multilateral development banks as the world bank the african development bank the asian development bank the european bank for reconstruction and development and the inter american development bank as well as with the world trade organization he shows how the aiib not only emulates but also innovates while continuing to collaborate closely with these institutions he suggests what should be done to optimize governance standards and operations of the aiib together with these peer institutions in a mutually emulating manner lawyers and policymakers involved in international economic law and related fields will welcome this nuanced and in depth description and analysis of the aiib its concomitant analysis of political economy and global governance issues will be of interest to bankers businesses government officials and others looking for an overall understanding of multilateral development banking and china's approach toward global governance in particular culinary man and the kitchen brigade offers an exploration of the field of normative subjectivity circulated within western fine dining traditions presenting a theoretical analysis of the governing relationship between the chef who embodies the culinary man and the fine dining brigade the book offers a unique treatment of western haute cuisine's interlocking regime of labor and aesthetics and theorizes the underexplored kitchen brigade as a model of disciplinary formation it deploys a heterogeneous set of disciplinary discourses and practices which have the effect of consolidating monopolies on epistemic authority and governance each position within the brigade's hierarchy is subject to distinct though related disciplinary practices thus chapters identify the specific practices pertinent to each brigade subject while also illuminating how they fit together as a coherent hegemonic project the application of wynterian and foucauldian insight to the fine dining brigade offers a political theory of culinary work which departs from other food studies texts notably this work offers an in depth treatment of the brigade's colonial dimensions which resonate with emerging critiques scholarly and general of the race and gender politics of restaurant labor the concluding chapters seek to identify where extant modes of resistance or alternative forms of culinary organization may hold the potential to move beyond the hegemonic overrepresentation of culinary man this book will be of great interest to students and scholars from across the social sciences and humanities interested in critical food studies political and cultural theory and popular culinary culture
