The only current administrative law text focusing on the paralegal's career needs thorough topic coverage beginning with an explanation of how administrative agencies are created and structured, then processing through such essential topics as agency discretion, rules and regulations, client's rights, investigations, informal and formal proceedings, and judicial review. Extensive pedagogy for the paralegal student including chapter summaries, key terms and review questions, charts and figures illustrating key topics, examples of administrative legal work, advanced study topics following each chapter, and an extensive selection of exercises. A focus on paralegal skills and careers covering professional skills such as researching and case preparation in each chapter, along with final chapter on career opportunities for paralegals in both the private and public sector agencies. This edition features a more flexible organization allowing easy adaptation to either one hour sessions or longer in-depth courses plus more advanced study topics at the end of each chapter for optional assignments. A variety of ingenious new exercises for both classroom and homework assignments including crosswords, fill ins, diagram problems, and three types of research exercises requiring use of the text, the library, and the web. New website listings in each chapter allowing students to instantly access laws and regulations, click into research sources, and explore administrative agencies in action.

around the world we see a participatory turn in the pursuit of gender equality exemplified by the adoption of gender quotas in national legislatures to promote women's role as decision makers. We also see a pluralism turn with increasing legal recognition given to the customary law or religious law of minority groups and indigenous peoples. To date the former trend has primarily benefitted majority women and the latter has primarily benefitted minority men. Neither has effectively ensured the participation of minority women in response. Multicultural feminists have proposed institutional innovations to strengthen the voice of minority women both at the state level and in decisions about the interpretation and evolution of cultural and religious practices. This volume explores the connection between gender parity and multicultural feminism both at the level of theory and in practice. The authors explore a range of cases from Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, and Africa in relation to state law, customary law, religious law, and indigenous law. While many obstacles remain and many women continue to suffer from the paradox of multicultural vulnerability, these innovations in theory and practice offer new prospects for reconciling gender equality and pluralism.
