a leading new testament scholar explores key issues in the gospel of john noted new testament scholar bauckham challenges the prevailing assumption the accounts of jesus circulated as anonymous community traditions instead asserting that they were transmitted in the name of the original eyewitness themelios is an international evangelical peer reviewed theological journal that expounds and defends the historic christian faith themelios is published three times a year online at the gospel coalition thegospelcoalition.org themelios and in print by wipf and stock its primary audience is theological students and pastors though scholars read it as well themelios began in 1975 and was operated by rtsf uccf in the uk and it became a digital journal operated by the gospel coalition in 2008 the editorial team draws participants from across the globe as editors essayists and reviewers general editor d a carson trinity evangelical divinity school managing editor brian tabb bethlehem college and seminary consulting editor michael j ovey oak hill theological college administrator andrew david naselli bethlehem college and seminary book review editors jerry hwang singapore bible college alan thompson sydney missionary bible college nathan a finn southeastern baptist theological seminary hans madueme covenant college dane ortlund crossway jason sexton golden gate baptist seminary editorial board gerald bray beeson divinity school lee gatiss wales evangelical school of theology paul helseth university of northwestern st paul paul house beeson divinity school ken magnuson the southern baptist theological seminary jonathan pennington the southern baptist theological seminary james robson wycliffe hall mark d thompson moore theological college paul williamson moore theological college stephen witmer pepperell christian fellowship robert yarbrough covenant seminary in this book michael j thate offers an experiment in reception criticism in its consideration of the formation and reception of the historical jesus discourse he also attempts to historicize leben jesu forschung within debates and narratives of secularization these two foci guide the book through its two parts first thate explicates schweitzer's dominant archival function in leben jesu forschung while aiming to make fragile the grand architect's receptive hegemony then he combines critical memory theory and other theoretical readings of the material in an attempt to refocus the study of the historical jesus as early christian memory politics in the service of identity explication he attempts to problematize schweitzer's legacy of a tidy systematic approach in which much of historical jesus scholarship continues to operate drawing on philosophical analysis and historical critical exegesis this study sets out to clarify the father's will for christ and how it relates to his death on the cross then after considering the theologies of anselm and peter abelard it argues for the recovery of the early christian category of ransom

the subjects of rhetoric history and theology intersect in unique ways within new testament and early christian literature the contributors of this volume represent a wide range of perspectives but share a common interest in the interpretation of these texts in light of their rhetorical historical and theological elements what results is a fresh and perceptive reading of the new testament and early christianity literature this engaging study provides a new way of looking at scripture one that takes seriously the biblical idea of mission richard bauckham shows how god identifies himself with particular individuals or people in human history in order to be known by all he is the god of abraham israel and david and finally the one who acts through jesus christ bauckham applies these insights to the contemporary scene encouraging those involved in mission to be sensitive to postmodern concerns about globalization while at the same time emphasizing the uniqueness of christian faith in doing so he demonstrates the diversity of christian faith around the world this book will be rewarding reading for pastors lay readers and students of scripture mission and postmodernism the thesis of the book may be stated simply it is an argument based upon the four prophetic texts of jer 23 5 zech 3 8 6 12 and isa 4 2 as a foundational pattern for the four gospels these four prophetic texts it will be argued mention a king branch a servant branch a man priest branch and a lord god branch this study seeks to show how matthew presents jesus as the king branch mark as the servant branch luke as the priest man branch and john as the lord god branch consideration will also be given to explore the ramification of the four living beings as described in rev 4 6 7 given the sum total of this sequence of literary facts the conclusion of this book will raise a number of possible implications one of these implications will offer the conclusion that the four evangelists could not have written their four gospels solely on their own human unaided efforts revised and expanded version of the author s dissertation phd southeastern baptist theological seminary bauckham shows that jesus was devoted to the god of israel with a special focus on god s fatherly love and compassion and like every jewish teacher he expounded the torah but did so in his own distinctive way a crucial responsibility for christian interpreters of scripture today richard bauckham insists is to seek to understand our contemporary context and to explore the bible s relevance to it in ways that reflect serious critical engagement with that context in the bible in the contemporary world bauckham models how this task can be carried out bauckham calls for our reading of scripture to lead us into increased engagement with the important issues of today's world including globalization environmental degradation and widespread poverty he works to bring biblical texts into relationship with these contemporary realities by means of the bible's metanarrative of god and the world in which god's purpose takes effect in the salvation and fulfilment of the world as his cherished creation few scholars have influenced new testament scholarship in the areas of orality memory and tradition more profoundly than birger gerhardsson today as these topics have again become important in biblical scholarship his pioneering work takes on a new light though the esteemed contributors may differ on issues in the burgeoning study they have all enthusiastically taken on the dual task of evaluating gerhardsson's contribution anew and bringing his insights up to date within the current debate additional contributors are loveday alexander university of sheffield david e aune university of notre dame martin s jaffee university of washington alan kirk james madison university terence mournet north american baptist seminary and christopher tuckett university of oxford pembroke college ritva h williams restoration quarterly
