most educators are convinced we need to do a better job of assessing students either with new tests or new applications of tests all argue that at this very critical time it is imperative that educators be very knowledgeable about assessment and the ways assessment information is used to make decisions about students the book is intended for a first course in assessment for those whose careers require understanding and informed use of assessment data the primary audience comprises those who are or will be teachers in special education at the elementary or secondary level in writing for those who are taking their first course in assessment we have assumed no prior knowledge of measurement and statistical concepts

airasian presents complex concepts clearly so that pre service teachers can understand them and solidly grounds these concepts in best practice through practical real well integrated examples he talks to not at users the text conceives of classroom assessment in a broader way than many other texts it focuses not only on the assessment needs of testing grading interpreting standardized tests and performance assessments but also on assessment concerns in organizing a classroom at the start of school planning and implementing instruction and strategies of teacher self reflection it views classroom assessment as an everyday ongoing integral part of teaching not something that is separated from life in classrooms the text is organized in a manner that follows the natural progression of teacher decision making from organizing the class as a learning community to planning and conducting instruction to the formal evaluation of learning and finally to grading includes the yearbook of the dept of elementary school principals of the national education association of the u s and beginning with v 34 includes the department s membership directory and annual report arguing that student evaluation is an integral part of teaching this text is designed to provide teachers with a concise presentation of assessment principles which specifically relate to instruction and an overview of current research and new directions in the field of assessment the history of early childhood education development of the child curriculum designed to promote cognitive affective and psycho physical motor abilities and special strategies teachers will need are in the text this text will help students move from identifying the annual goals for a child to embedding these goals in the regular classroom routine it is set up to provide information and then teach how to apply this information in a practical setting
