the fact that snow did not sneak into red china to gather information constituting the basis of his red start over china all alone is in many instances misunderstood even by scholars mao zedong s biography has been the subject of an international mountain of commentary in china and elsewhere biographies praising mao and those slandering him are all based on the american journalist edgar snow s 1905 1972 account in red star over china for the route mao traveled from early childhood through his youth how the red star rose introduces the image of mao and the biographical information made known to the world through the publication of red star and with its publication the circumstances which they fundamentally undermined ishikawa yoshihiro uses mao zedong as raw material to examine from whence and how ordinary historical information and images which we habitually use unconsciously come into being he desires to help readers to reconsider the historicity of the generation of not only mao's image but of that of historical materials with a title that evokes gao hua's seminal study of mao zedong's rise in the chinese communist party ishikawa yoshihiro asks two critical questions what did the world know of mao before the publication of edgar snow's Red Star Over China how did red star change that understanding with the meticulous research careful documentation and fair minded judgment that characterizes all of ishikawa's work he shows how little even moscow and the communist international knew about mao before 1936 this study is full of unexpected insights into the origins of early visual images of mao the background to snow's historic trip to northern shaanxi and the evolution of the classic study that he left in a world where balanced judgment of the rise of mao is increasingly difficult to find ishikawa's scholarship stands out as a rare model of judicious balance joseph w esherick emeritus professor hwei chih and julia hsiu chair in chinese studies university of california san diego this book is first an exquisite excavation on the enabling infrastructures in the writing and publishing of one of the most iconic works in journalistic interviews in the 20th century a text that broke through a wall of intelligence blockade to give to the world in an autobiographical voice and with a striking image the debut of the revolutionary mao while holed up in a mountain base area it is in addition a history of the reading of the book in multiple languages including chinese that is indexed to the rise of the mao cult thereafter ishikawa captures a moment of a past gearing up in anticipation of a future that never came this book is a must read for all with an interest in mao journalism and the history of books wen hsin yeh richard h and laurie c morrison chair professor in history university of california berkeley ishikawa offers a challenging reflection on how historical information and images that we take for granted come into being through the twin case studies of images of mao zedong before edgar snow's famous biography in 1936 and then how snow's images of mao were translated and transmuted into chinese russian and japanese joshua fogel's careful translation brings this impeccable example of japanese sinology to the english reading public timothy cheek professor and louis cha chair in chinese research university of british columbia dragon in ambush by jeremy ingalls is a critique and new translation of the first twenty poems of mao zedong's published poetry this seminal work stands out from previous translations of mao's poems in seeing them as an expression of his core political beliefs rather than for their poetic effect instead dr ingalls shows in consummate detail that mao was careful and deliberate in employing imagery in his poetry to lay out procedures for political supremacy in which the central drive was his will to psychological domination that is domination of the minds of others is the unifying theme of mao's verse sequence the crux of prof ingalls' work lies in her focus on the symbolism in the poems the poems are in mao's use of them as a means of communication meaningless on their surface no image however seemingly commonplace is ever employed for merely lyrical or aesthetic description every image functions as a factor in an entirely political calculus according to dr ingalls when mao mentions streams or mountains suns or moons clouds or winds or icicles horses elephants snakes tigers leopards or bears specifies kinds of trees or birds or fish flies brooms mats or bridges these and all his other images have as their primary function neither happenstance descriptions nor whimsical metaphor they all have politically symbolic functions in mao's algebra of versified political discourse furthermore in her analysis prof ingalls downplays the significance of marxism leninism in the thought of mao zedong she shows that throughout his career mao regarded marxism leninism as a political convenience not as a doctrine permanently essential to his master plan just as mao used the nationalists of Chiang Kai-shek and Stalin's Soviet Union as means to further his own political ambitions so did he manipulate marxist-leninist ideology to hoodwink and attract at home and abroad professional revolutionaries to help do his bidding mao's aims express in their worldviews an entirely chinese tradition in his poems mao's dialectics his materialism and his authoritarianism all take their points of reference from within the chinese cultural order dragon in ambush is a thoroughly unique and revolutionary approach to understanding the mind of mao zedong
