economic systems driven by monetary interests have enabled individuals international institutions and governments to prioritize financial gain and budget constraints over people this has placed global dominance above human rights this edited volume tackles the relationship between human rights and economic systems providing new ways to help countries prioritize human rights in their economies it includes contributions from scholars actively involved with the unesco chair in economic systems and human rights founded at the national university of la plata these contributors specialize in a range of topics within different disciplines including economics sociology history geography law and philosophy providing historical insights into past and present conditions the contributors explore the best ways to reform modern economic systems to ensure they promote human rights the first half of the book includes theoretical proposals and underlying themes while the second half offers concrete models and practices for use in today's dominant economic systems unique contributions within chapters include frameworks readers can use to apply socioeconomic theory at both national and international levels the book examines structural problems such as socio environmental crises increased rates of inequality and gaps between the economy and society it discusses the transformation of dominant socio economic theory as it relates to financial systems productive labor markets social participation and the relationship between the economy society and the environment chapters directly address the loss of the ontological function in economies and propose new approaches to existing economic systems drawing on scholars such as adam smith who is well known for his idea of the invisible hand the resulting book presents a modern approach to national and international well being built around human rights readers will learn about the socioeconomic models and practices that best promote economic socialization and how this relates to global values shared across economies philology philosophy commentary and reception in plutarch's work are only some of the main topics discussed within a large academic output devoted to the writer of chaeronea by professor paola volpe cacciatore the volume is divided into four sections plutarchean fragments quaestiones convivales religion philosophy and plutarch's reception from humanism to modern times the eighteen studies collected in this volume originally published in italian and here translated into english concern the corpus plutarcheum including table talks de iside et osiride the treatises against the stoics de genio socratis de liberis educandis de musica and some plutarchean fragments the volume is a tribute to celebrate the lifelong study of plutarch's work by professor paola volpe cacciatore one of the most remarkable plutarchean scholars of the last decades the title of this volume a man of many interests plutarch on religion myth and magic essays in honour of aurelio pérez jiménez is first and foremost a coalescing homage to plutarch and to aurelio and to the way they have been inspiring as master and indirect disciple a multitude of readers in their path to knowledge here metonymically represented by the scholars who offer their tribute to them the analysis developed throughout the several contributions favors a philological approach of wide spectrum i.e. stemming from literary and linguistic aspects it projects them into their cultural religious philosophical and historical framework the works were organized into two broad sections respectively devoted to the lives and to the moralia while it is clear that workforce involvement is fundamental for the success of digital transformation it is also evident that insufficient attention has been paid to emerging strategies to convince employees to become involved to do so this book considers relational goods the intersubjective and reflexive relationships existing between employees within the doi framework to evaluate how they influence digital transformation success alongside innovation traits time and
