the collection of italian medieval sculpture in the metropolitan museum of art and the cloisters began with the acquisition in 1908 of a romanesque column statue today the museum s holdings comprise more than seventy works dating from the ninth to the late fifteenth century the birthplaces of these works range from sicily to venice some typify local styles others illustrate the intense artistic exchanges taking place within italy and between italy and the wider world technological advances of the last decades have made it possible to determine more precisely the materials and techniques from which works of art are made the history of their alteration and the mechanisms of their deterioration using such techniques scholars have been able to ascertain for example that sculptures previously thought to be modern works carved in the medieval manner were in fact completely authentic this innovative volume represents a watershed in the study of sculpture a collaborative dialogue between an art historian and a conservator between art history and art science that deepens our understanding of the object we see while illuminating its elusive enigmatic history from publisher s description in the nineteenth century new cemeteries were built in many italian cities that were unique in scale and grandeur and which became destinations on the grand tour from the middle ages the dead had been buried in churches and urban graveyards but in the 1740s a radical reform across europe prohibited burial inside cities and led to the creation of suburban burial grounds italy s nineteenth century cemeteries were distinctive as monumental or architectural structures rather than landscaped gardens they represented a new building type that emerged in response to momentous changes in italian politics tied to the fight for independence and the creation of the nation state as the first survey of italy s monumental cemeteries the book explores the relationship between architecture and politics or how architecture is formed by political forces as cities of the dead cemeteries mirrored the spaces of the living against the backdrop of italy s unification they conveyed the power of the new nation efforts to construct an italian identity and conflicts between church and state monumental cemeteries helped to foster the narratives and mentalities that shaped italy as a new nation
