basing much of its analysis upon the first systematic empirical study of the french pre trial process this monograph breaks new ground in the field of comparative criminal justice moving away from idealised accounts of judicially supervised investigations it provides a better understanding of the ways in which an inquisitorially rooted criminal process operates in practice and the factors that influence and constrain its development and functioning the structure and operation of french criminal justice is set within a broad range of contexts of political occupational and legal cultures from the french republican tradition of state centred models of authority across the growing influence of the echr to the local conditions which determine the ways in which individual discretion is exercised the french model of investigative supervision and accountability is contrasted with more adversarial procedures and in particular the different ways in which the reliability of evidence is guaranteed and the interests of the accused protected systematic observation of the daily working practices of police gendarmes prosecutors and juges d'instruction across a number of sites and time periods provides a unique and detailed account of the ways in which the french criminal process operates in practice the understandings and insights generated from this data are then set within a wider legal and political analysis which considers issues such as the influence and interference of the state within matters of justice a comparative analysis of the judicial and defence functions and the extent to which echr fair trial guarantees are able to produce legal and ideological change within a process which depends upon a central and judicially supervised investigating authority an informed knowledge of other european criminal procedures is increasingly essential for those working within uk as well as comparative criminal justice if there is to be a proper engagement with and evaluation of measures such as the eus proposed council framework decision on certain procedural rights in criminal proceedings throughout the european union as well as recent legislative reform in england and wales that seeks to adjust the pre trial roles of police and prosecutor in significant ways this book will be essential reading for teachers researchers students and policy makers working in the areas of criminal justice in the uk and across europe in comparative criminal justice criminology as well as in french and european studies

L'administration est une spécialité française qui nourrit autant de méfiance que de fierté après avoir présenté l'importance de l'administration ces contributions montrent sa modernisation puis ses rapports avec l'extérieur le public l'europe la mondialisation enfin elles proposent différents regards qui se sont posés sur l'administration les juges les médias l'étranger
