pourquoi la démocratie et les droits de l'homme sont-ils nés en occident plutôt qu'en Inde, en Chine ou dans l'empire ottoman parce que l'occident était chrétien ? répond l'auteur et que le christianisme n'est pas seulement une religion, le Christ enseigne une éthique à portée universelle émancipatrice. L'auteur raconte le destin paradoxal du christianisme.

Many of us tend to live as though Jesus represents the spiritual part of our lives. We don't clearly see how he relates to the rest of our experiences, desires, and habits. How can Jesus, the Bible, and Christianity become more than a compartmentalized part of our lives? Highly regarded New Testament scholar and popular teacher Jonathan Pennington argues that we need to recover the lost biblical image of Jesus as the one true philosopher who teaches us how to experience the fullness of our humanity in the Kingdom of God. Jesus teaches us what is good, right, and beautiful and offers answers to life's big questions: what it means to be human, how to be happy, how to order our emotions, and how we should conduct our relationships. This book brings Jesus and Christianity into dialogue with the ancient philosophers who asked the same big questions about finding meaningful happiness. It helps us rediscover biblical Christianity as a whole-life philosophy, one that addresses our greatest human questions and helps us live meaningful and flourishing lives.

The landscape of international education has changed significantly in the last ten years, and our understanding of concepts such as international, global, and multicultural are being re-evaluated, fully updated, and revised, and now including new contributions from research in South East Asia, the Middle East, China, Japan, Australasia, and North America. The new edition of this handbook analyses the origins, interpretations, and contributions of international education and explores key contemporary developments, including internationalism in the context of teaching and learning, leadership standards, and quality in institutions and systems of education. The promotion of internationalism in national systems. This important collection of research is an essential resource for anyone involved in the practice and academic study of international education, including researchers and teachers in universities, governmental and private curriculum development agencies, examination authorities, administrators, and teachers in schools.

First published in 1963, this is an important text which illuminates the complex relationship between theology and philosophy. Mehl sympathetically examines the key aspects of the dialogue between Christianity and philosophy, commenting on the perceived tension between reason and faith, Christian dogmatic and metaphysical experience, and concluding that an understanding of revelation cannot be submitted to any philosophical principle of interpretation. This text ultimately explores the role of the Christian philosopher in renewing continuing fruitful philosophical reflection.

the new evangelization calls christians to return to the new testament to understand its essential content but also to discover different ways of proclaiming the good news by exploring the witness and different missionary approaches of jesus and the apostles marcel dumais omi offers foundational models to apply to the context and circumstances of our own times after emmaus considers the bible from the point of view of models of evangelization and faith these biblical approaches include the direct proclamation proposed in the acts of the apostles the enculturated discourses of st paul the humanism of jesus beatitudes and the accompaniment of the risen christ by the disciples of emmaus dumais teaches us to regard the biblical texts as lessons in evangelization by introducing us to the rich diversity of paths to god these biblical models for the new evangelization will inspire all those who wish to share their faith today
