drawing on their extensive research nichols and berliner document and categorize the ways that high stakes testing threatens the purposes and ideals of the american education system for more than a decade the debate over high stakes testing has dominated the field of education this passionate and provocative book provides a fresh perspective on the issue and powerful ammunition for opponents of high stakes tests their analysis is grounded in the application of campbell s law which posits that the greater the social consequences associated with a quantitative indicator such as test scores the more likely it is that the indicator itself will become corrupted and the more likely it is that the use of the indicator will corrupt the social processes it was intended to monitor nichols and berliner illustrate both aspects of this corruption showing how the pressures of high stakes testing erode the validity of test scores and distort the integrity of the education system their analysis provides a coherent and comprehensive intellectual framework for the wide ranging arguments against high stakes testing while putting a compelling human face on the data marshalled in support of those arguments test scoring provides a summary of traditional true score test theory and modern item response theory related to scoring tests as well as novel developments resulting from the integration of these approaches the background material introduced in the first four chapters builds a foundation for the new developments covered in later chapters these new methods offer alternative psychometric approaches to scoring complex assessments each of the book s contributors draws from the classic literature of traditional test theory as well as psychometric developments of the past decade the emphasis is on large scale educational measurement but the topics and procedures may be applied broadly within many measurement contexts numerous graphs and illustrative examples based on real tests and actual data are integrated throughout this multi authored volume shows the reader how to combine the coded outcomes on individual test items into a numerical summary about the examinee s performance this book is intended for researchers and students in education and other social sciences interested in educational assessment and policy the design and development of tests and the procedures for test administration and scoring prerequisites include an introduction to educational and psychological measurement and basic statistics knowledge of differential and integral calculus and matrix algebra is helpful but not required testwise understanding educational assessment offers a 360 degree guided tour of its subject both volumes in this comprehensive two volume set explore different aspects of investigating what students have learned to set the scene volume one highlights recurrent themes and the contemporary context with roots in both academic traditions and the natural sciences today s achievement testing reaches beyond the classroom to figure in policies aimed at educational reform and societal change how do the ways in which we assess learning reflect values in our culture what roles do citizens educators government officials and measurement professionals play against this background volume one then lays out the fundamental principles in assessment as the central chapters explain validity reliability fairness and the language of scores they illuminate key challenges and difficult tradeoffs associated with matters of technical quality in helping the reader understand current issues in testing and evaluate actual tests testwise also puts assessment of learning in a new light it is a process of critical thinking reasoning from evidence and defining the goals of education renita schmidt and p l thomas the guiding mission of the teacher education program in the university where we teach is to create teachers who are scholars and leaders while the intent of that mission is basically sound in theory we instill the idea that teachers at all levels are professionals always learning and growing in knowledge that theory that philosophical underpinning does not insure that the students who complete our program are confident about the act or performance of teaching in our unique program students work closely with one teacher and classroom for the entire senior year and then are supervised and mentored during their first semester of teaching the program is heavily field based and it depends on the effectiveness of mentoring throughout the methods coursework and the first semester of full time teaching students tell us this guidance and support is invaluable and yet we feel the disjuncture between university and school just as many of you in more traditional student teaching settings students hear best practice information from us in methods classes and they receive ample exposure to the research supporting our field but have a hard time implementing research based practices in their cla room settings and an even harder time finding it in the classrooms around them
