there is no problem more baffling to the academic world than the problem of consciousness it s fair to say that no academic has any clue at all about what consciousness is in fact academics have totally confused it with something radically different namely sentience the problem that faces the academic world is the insurmountable one of how you get lifeless mindless purposeless objects material atoms to manifest subjectivity it s a category error to imagine that matter can provide any answers to the foundational issues of mind academics believe that to answer the problem of subjectivity is thereby to solve the hard problem of consciousness in fact the problem of subjectivity sentience is totally different from the problem of consciousness to understand why simply ponder all of the following statements 1 animals are sentient but not conscious 2 human babies are sentient but not conscious 3 humans who never encountered another human are sentient but not conscious 4 sleepwalking humans are sentient but not conscious the problem of sentience is drastically different from the problem of consciousness and if you conflate the two you have immediately set yourself an impossible task especially if you make any attempt to solve these problems within the framework of materialism i e the ideology of anti mind to understand what consciousness actually is it s essential to understand the difference in the world of sleep between dreaming and lucid dreaming exactly the same dichotomy is present in the waking world a sleepwalker is a person who can do complex tasks such as riding a motorbike for half an hour without any consciousness a conscious version of a sleepwalker engages in what we refer to as lucid waking lucid waking is the key to consciousness the fact is that consciousness is not an inherent property of human individuals it s not built into them it s acquired just as some people acquire the ability to become lucid dreamers since sleepwalkers could do many of the same things as conscious individuals the question is invited of why consciousness is required at all if you don t know what consciousness is how can you expand your consciousness to the maximum wouldn t you like to be maximally conscious think of the power you would have examining the interdependent nature of substance space and subjectivity this book constitutes an interdisciplinary analysis of the intoxication indigenous to what has been termed our narcotic modernity the first section drug culture demonstrates how the body of the addict and the social body of the city are both inscribed by controlled substance positing addiction as a pathology out of place that is specific to the late capitalist urban landscape the second section dope sick conducts a critique of the prevailing pathology paradigm of addiction proposing in its place a theoretical reconceptualization of drug dependence in the terms of p r e i n scription remapping the successive stages or phases of our narcotic modernity the third section narco state delineates three primary eras of narcotic modernity including the contemporary city of safe supervised consumption employing an experimental intra textual format the fourth section brain disease mimics the sense state or scape of intoxication accompanying each permutation of narcotic modernity in the interchangeable terms of drug dream and or disease tracing the parallel evolution of addiction the late capitalist cityscape and the pathological project of modernity the four parts of this book thus together constitute a users guide to urban space the fall of the berlin wall in 1989 signalled the end of not just communism but also of capitalism the removal of its dialectical cold war enemy allowed capitalism to release the brakes and bring about an enormous transfer of wealth from the

this book presents an original and engaging look at contemporary popular culture opening with the provocative idea that this is a day and age of complete exhaustion of ideas images stories and myths questioning the effects of content recycling in cinema and other media the author further elaborates on the repurposing of cultural junk the reassembling of narratives and myths the thought provoking hypothesis proposed in this research is that we have entered an age of cultural promiscuity by analyzing the mutations of myth making practices and connecting them with larger cultural manifestations the author explains these transformations as integral to the development of a myth illogical imagination cinematic and mythological representations in mainstream hollywood films have reached a point of amalgamation with no return which marks the beginning of a fourth age of representations where signs and meanings are manifested in illogical permutations this is more explicit in films that commingle aliens cowboys undead american presidents and zombie nazis joining together in the same narrative ghosts werewolves and vampires aggregating disjointed storylines and historical fake facts all coalesced in an orgy of empty burlesque and infantile masquerades this interdisciplinary research combines cultural studies film criticism art and myth interpretations bringing into the debate multiple concepts from related fields such as critical theory and media criticism the book also opens up to innovative approaches from a wide array of academic disciplines offering researchers students and those fascinated by the transformations happening in contemporary cinema an interpretative tool based on a revised dialectic approach the conclusion is that we are now victims of a zombie semiotics meaning making in contemporary culture politics and aesthetics is dominated by a process of incessant desecration of significations specific to the total mishmash of representations analyzed here
