an extensive dictionary almost 1800 pages of the upriver dialects of halkomelem an amerindian language of b c giving information from almost 80 speakers gathered by the author over a period of 40 years entries include names and dates of citation dialect information phonological morphological syntactic and semantic information domain memberships of each alloeme examples of use in sentences and much cultural information

carl strehlow s comparative dictionary manuscript is a unique item of australian cultural heritage it is a large collection of circa 7 600 aranda 6 800 loritja luritja and 1 200 dieri to german entries compiled at the beginning of the twentieth century at the hermannsburg mission in central australia it is an integral part of strehlow s ethnographic work on aboriginal cultures that his german editor baron moritz von leonhardi published as die aranda und loritja stämme in zentral australien strehlow 1907 1920 in frankfurt strehlow and his editor had planned to publish a language study that included this comparative dictionary but it remained unpublished until now due to a number of complicated historical and personal circumstances of the main characters involved with the dictionary strehlow s linguistic work is historically and anthropologically significant because it probably represents the largest and most comprehensive wordlist of indigenous languages compiled in australia during the early stages of contact it is an important primary source for luritja and aranda speakers both languages are spoken in homes and taught in schools in central australia the reasons for presenting this work as a heritage dictionary that is as an exact transcription of the original form of the handwritten manuscript are to follow the western aranda people s wishes and to maintain its historical authenticity which will prove to be of great use to both indigenous people and scholars interested in language based on extensive fieldwork that spanned more than 50 years this comprehensive dictionary is a monumental achievement and will help to preserve this american indian language that is nearing extinction
