this illustrated volume covers the career of sam shepard the provocative american playwright scriptwriter actor and director through an introductory survey followed by in depth analyses of representative selections from the one acts action states of shock experimental collaborations with joseph chaikin savage love and by now classic family plays buried child a lie of the mind it ranges from shepard s unpublished adaptation of marlowe s doctor faustus through the textual variants and political context of operation sidewinder to robert altman s movie version of fool for love besides offering brief comparisons with fellow dramatists albee and beckett and visual artists edward weston marsden hartley several performance analyses supplement the textual criticism and provide a sample of european directorial approaches together these takes offer a composite picture of an artist whose output over the past forty years has turned him into a figurehead of twentieth century drama studied and produced all over the world with a keen eye for his idiosyncratic and critical view of what it means to be american playwrights in rehearsal is an inside look at the writer's role in the creative process of bringing his or her words to life on stage. Susan Letzler Cole granted rare access to some of the major playwrights of our time, recounts her participation in rehearsal with Arthur Miller, Sam Shepard, Tony Kushner, and Suzan-Lori Parks and others.

A seminal collection of ruminations on art, books, and music by one of the sharpest minds and sensibilities in both punk rock and literature, Richard Hell may best be known as a punk icon, a founding member of seminal bands Television, The Heartbreakers, and The Voidoids. But for decades he's been a prominent voice in American letters through his novels Go Now and Godlike and his critically acclaimed autobiography I Dreamed I Was a Very Clean Tramp. Hell has proven himself as a talented and insightful writer across many genres in many forms, but one might argue that Richard's true genius lies in shorter form as a writer on culture. Love Comes in spurts, Hell once sang, and that could well describe the intensity of his penetrating and wickedly droll criticism. Massive Pissed Love is a collection of Hell's ruminations on art, literature, and music among other things that's like a candy box of reading treats, a bag of shiny marbles, a cabinet of mementos, and uncanny fetishes. However one thinks of it, it's a joy to read from start to finish and a deeply necessary addition to the oeuvre of one of the sharpest minds and sensibilities at work today.

German Cinema is the first English language volume to provide a comprehensive historical overview of German film from the silent era to the present, as well as close readings of individual films. In the history of German cinema, film directors have developed unique visual and narrative responses to the anxieties and excesses of their own times and those of Germany's past. German Cinema is the first English language volume to provide a comprehensive historical overview of German film from the silent era to the present, as well as close readings of individual films.

This study analyzes the emergence of the playwright-director in American theatre between the years 1960-1983. It examines the reasons behind this new position as well as assessing its significance.

the topic of the origins of theatre is one of the most controversial in theatre studies with a long history of heated discussions and strongly held positions in the roots of theatre eli rozik enters the debate in a feisty way offering not just another challenge to those who place theatre s origins in ritual and religion but also an alternative theory of roots based on the cultural and psychological conditions that made the advent of theatre possible rozik grounds his study in a comprehensive review and criticism of each of the leading historical and anthropological theories he believes that the quest for origins is essentially misleading because it does not provide any significant insight for our understanding of theatre instead he argues that theatre like music or dance is a sui generis kind of human creativity a form of thinking and communication whose roots lie in the spontaneous image making faculty of the human psyche rozik s broad approach to research lies within the boundaries of structuralism and semiotics but he also utilizes additional disciplines such as psychoanalysis neurology sociology play and game theory science of religion mythology poetics philosophy of language and linguistics in seeking the roots of theatre what he ultimately defines is something substantial about the nature of creative thought a rudimentary system of imagistic thinking and communication that lies in the set of biological primitive and infantile phenomena such as daydreaming imaginative play children s drawing imitation mockery
