Most writing is done under pressure. An executive has to produce a three-page position paper by tomorrow. At nine a department head suddenly has to write a one-page action memo by noon. A graduate student has a twenty-page research paper due in a week. Yet while most students and professionals write under pressure with limited time, limited space, and a supervisor or instructor to please, few approach the task systematically. In Writing Under Pressure, Sanford Kaye, a renowned expert on the subject, presents a system he calls the Quick Writing Process (QWP) that focuses on real-world writing tasks and demonstrates how to produce the clearest, most honest, most powerful work possible under the constraints of time and space. A writing instructor with twenty-five years' experience teaching students and professionals in business and government, Kaye tells writers how to budget their time and how to use this time efficiently, exploring particular writing situations in which QWP can be applied to make the most of what the writer knows. Kaye discusses the process of taking exams, focusing on how instructors select questions and evaluate essays; he also considers writing in business and government, featuring an insightful analysis of a memo written by Colonel Oliver North. This memo highlights one of the most important issues writers in business and government face: whether to write the truth as they see it or simply what their bosses want to hear. Presenting a wealth of such examples, Kaye reveals how to break through stifling organizational codes in order to write memos and position papers that count. While most guides to writing ignore the constraints of time and space, Writing Under Pressure tackles these problems head-on, making it an essential reference for students, business professionals, government officials, or anyone else faced with a difficult writing assignment that has to be done now.

Gale Researcher Guide for the Writing Process is selected from Gale's academic platform, Gale Researcher. These study guides provide peer-reviewed articles that allow students early success in finding scholarly materials and to gain the confidence and vocabulary needed to pursue deeper research.

From the back cover: In a guide to the whole writing process, students work through the whole writing process from first ideas to final editing. A concrete and encouraging approach to writing, a guide includes these features: writer's notebook, a student's source of ideas and material to shape and refine into papers, exercises, group activities, and writing activities. Practice in the stages, concepts, and skills of writing that students then apply to their own writing. Revision guide, a chart to help students identify problems in their papers and make revisions. Error correction log and skills check means by which students can identify and gradually eliminate their individual grammar problems. Answer keys for grammar chapters to facilitate students' independent learning.
