seminar paper from the year 2011 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 0 university of vechta institut für anglistik course an 2 scottish poetry from burns to the present language english abstract being the son of a farmer robert burns was used to hard manial work from childhood on but his father william burns saw to it that his son got as good an education as was possible under the circumstances despite his talent as a poet and his efforts as a farmer robert burns stayed a poor man all his life allen cunningham states in the biographical notes of the 1855 edition of the complete works of robert burns that due to his being a poet burns was never able to make a living out of his farm as writing poetry did not agree with this kind of work this stands to doubt as writing poetry cannot bring on adverse weather conditions or cause fields to be stony pastures to be wet and rents to rise and robert burns surely put a lot of effort in farming he tried to be well informed by reading about new and better farming methods and he enjoyed rural life as can be seen in many of his poems and songs where he lovingly portraits the contryside and its inhabitants humans as well as animals robert burns was an intelligent man with an independent mind who had strong political and humanitarian opinions a concise and readable study for laypersons and clergy alike this book is indispensable for all informed people in many different confessional communities with the passion of one who not only observes but believes john leith touches on all aspects of reformed history theology polity liturgy and christian culture with a balance of enthusiasm and critical judgment that always rings true this book is concerned with english calvinistic baptist churches from the later 1600s until the early 1800s arguing that there was then no connection between restricted communion and hyper or high calvinism a minimal definition of restricted communion would be the reception at the baptist communion of those alone who had been immersed in water upon a profession of faith a sketch of english calvinistic baptists in the years preceding and following the 1689 act of toleration stresses that they were a denomination other than that of the general baptists and that most baptists irrespective of party lines were de facto strict baptists historical arguments for and against restricted communion will demonstrate that during that period there was no definitive link between the particular baptists communion discipline and their interpretations of calvinism attention is given to john gill s and andrew fuller s interpretations of the relation between the atonement and evangelism using byron s poem childe harold s pilgrimage his letters and memoirs and his biography this work shows that he was a man haunted and even tormented by his perverse and convoluted relationship with god a relationship formed during a dysfunctional childhood
