the stunning first two instalments of dean koontz s re imagining of frankenstein including an extract from the final book the dead town someone new is playing god the frankenstein story updated to the 21st century by the great american storyteller dean koontz from the celebrated imagination of dean koontz comes a powerful reworking of one of the classic stories of all time if you think you know the legend you know only half the truth here is the mystery the myth the terror and the magic of every city has its secrets but none as terrible as this he is deucalion a tattooed man of mysterious origin a sleight of reality artist who has traveled the centuries with a secret worse than death he arrives in new orleans as a serial killer stalks the streets a killer who carefully selects his victims for the humanity that is missing in himself deucalion s path will lead him to cool tough police detective carson o connor and her devoted partner michael maddison who are tracking the slayer but will soon discover signs of something far more terrifying an entire race of killers who are much more and less than human and deadliest of all their deranged near immortal maker victor helios once known as frankenstein the frankenstein story is updated to the 21st century by the great american storyteller dean koontz now someone new is playing god the southern gothic on screen explores a body of screen texts that conform to certain generic conventions and aesthetics that since the early twentieth century have led to the construction of the american south as a space of ruin decay melancholy loss and haunting the book considers the cultural significance of the southern gothic on screen by examining southern otherness as the primary mechanism through which the south is rendered a space of darkness and danger this opens up a critical space for the southern gothic to be discussed as a screen genre with its own complex visual thematic and narrative codes the book establishes a perspective that synthesizes a broad understanding of southern gothic genericity with pre existing cultural and political discourses on the south resulting in an analysis that is specific to film and television while remaining heedful of the intersecting discourses that inform both the gothic and the south as historic and mediated constructs in frankenstein lost souls dean koontz puts a singular twist on this classic tale of ambition and science gone wrong to forge a new legend uniquely suited to our times it is a story of revenge redemption and the thin line that separates human from inhuman the work of creation has begun again victor leben once frankenstein has seen the future and he s ready to populate it using stem cells organic silicon circuitry and nanotechnology he will engender a race of superhumans the perfect melding of flesh and machine with a powerful enigmatic backer and a secret location where the enemies of progress can t find him victor is certain that this time nothing can stop him it is up to five people to prove him wrong in their hands rests nothing less than the survival of humanity itself they are drawn together in different ways by omens sinister and wondrous to the same shattering conclusion two years after they saw him die the man they knew as victor helios lives on as they gather at a small montana town old alliances will be renewed and tested from within and without for the dangers they face will eclipse any they have yet encountered yet in the midst of their peril love will blossom and joy and they will discover sources of strength and perseverance they have not imagined they will need them for a monumental battle is about to commence that will require all their ingenuity and courage as it defines what we are to be and if we are to be at all the cataclysmic conclusion to koontz s brilliant reworking of the classic tale
