this study looks at duffy s work from her early development and involvement with the liverpool poets in the 1970s through to her most recent collection the concurrent tenures of gillian clarke as national poet of wales carol ann duffy as uk poet laureate liz lochhead as scots makar and paula meehan as ireland professor of poetry defied historic rifts between women poetry and nation this book explores the extraordinary changes these women fought to achieve as each made her way from marginalised poetess of the 1970s to laureate at the heart of cultural establishment in the 21st century it looks at how they revitalised these public offices and explores their interventions in contemporary geopolitics and national self understanding it considers how they shaped their roles by engaging with poetic icons of the past by linking poetry and education and by joining poetry with politics since 1978 the editors have collaborated on several research projects and spent many hours at conventions discussing research graduate education and patient care the idea for this volume arose when we both concluded that the area of behavioral pediatrics needed a how to book several important scholarly reviews had recently appeared they presented excellent summary information concerning the general assumptions and theories underlying the area of behavioral medicine with children but these volumes devote very little attention to the application of clinical methods what was needed we thought was a book that would allow graduate students and practicing clinicians the opportunity to peer into the minds of eminent practitioners and understand their thinking thus the book was conceived editing books represents a special kind of challenge one has to sell an idea to a group of distinguished colleagues they have to believe enough in that idea to devote the considerable time and effort necessary to bring thought into reality in this case there were two ideas we tried to sell to our colleagues life magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th century it now lives on at life.com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet users can browse search and view photos of today's people and events they have free access to share print and post images for personal use poetry and voice with a foreword by helen dunmore is a book of essays which fuses critical and creative treatments of poetic voice some contributors focus on critical explorations of voice in work by poets such as john ashbery simon armitage eavan boland carol ann duffy arun kolatkar don mckay and dragica rajčić and on the musical voices of the lyric tradition and of poetry itself vicki feaver jane griffiths philip gross waqas khwaja lesley saunders and david swann reflect on their own poetic processes of composition and the development of the voices of childhood old age migration landscape bilinguality and imprisonment laurel cohen pfister and tatjana bijelić examine the nature of poetic voice in exile the need for fresh voices after war and new spaces in which poetic voices can be heard in this international collection the contributors give rare and generous insights into inner poetic processes and external effects they engage with artistic debates about developing losing and appropriating voice in poetry and approach the question of what is finding a voice in poetry from multiple angles the book will interest literary critics poets lecturers and undergraduate and postgraduate students of literature poetry and creative writing the connection between childhood and poetry runs deep and yet poetry written for children has been neglected by criticism and resists prevailing theories of children's literature drawing on walter ong's theory of orality and on iain mcgilchrist's work on brain function this book develops a new theoretical framework for the study of children's poetry from tongue to text argues that the poem is a multimodal form that exists in the borderlands between the world of experience and the world of language and between orality and literacy places that children themselves inhabit engaging with a wide range of poetry from nursery rhymes and christina rossetti to michael rosen and carol ann duffy debbie pullinger demonstrates how these tactful works are shaped by the dynamics of orality and textuality he survived the horrors of the civil war she endured the long wait and after the last man had fallen only one walked the road back to their south carolina home with the economy of the south in ruin and hope shattered in the void of silenced hearts will and carol ann headed westward in search of a new life to find their lost dreams and escape the demons left behind beneath the crack of thunder under a gray texas sky fate would alter carol ann s life in a way she never imagined that moment in destiny would stir the seeds of love and deception changing the lives of those living on the double m ranch and beyond this is the story of a woman of strength of the people in her life of the bonds of human relationships and all that is threatened by the black river crossing take my hand and follow this young woman and those who come into and out of her life open your eyes to those who call out for the understanding they seek to ease their souls come with me bring carol ann home again this is the only monograph to consider the entire thirty year career publications and influence of britain s first female poet laureate it outlines her impact on trends in contemporary poetry and establishes what we mean by duffyesque concerns and techniques discussions of her writing and activities prove how she has championed the relevance of poetry to all areas of contemporary culture and to the life of every human being individual chapters discuss the lyrics of love loss and longing the socially motivated poems about the 1980s the female centred volumes and poems the relationship between poetry and public life and poetry and childhood and written for children the book should whet the appetite of readers who know little of duffy s work to find out more while providing students and scholars with an in depth analysis of the poems in their contexts it draws on a wide range of critical works and includes an extensive list of further reading heirs to a storied past and glamorized as modern day knights the marine corps the elite fighting force in america s military in fact has not always been so highly regarded as jack shulimson shows only a century ago the corps identity and existence were much in question although the marines were formally established by congress in 1798 and subsequently distinguished themselves fighting on the barbary coast their essential mission and identity remained unclear throughout most of the nineteenth century but amid the crosscurrents of industrialization technological change professionalization and reform that emerged in gilded age america the corps underwent a gradual transformation that ultimately secured its significant and enduring military role in this enlightening study shulimson argues that the marine corps officers inextricable ties to the navy both hampered and aided their attempt to define their own special jurisdiction and professional identity often treated like a poor relation the marine officers frequently found themselves in direct competition with their counterparts in the navy and at times the object of the latter s scorn shulimson reveals the processes politics and personalities that converged to create these tense and sometimes embattled relations but he goes on to show how marine officers with the navy s blessing eventually transcended their second class role on a frosty winter evening the baron watches the snow fall he is bored and worried it will soon be christmas and everything is too quiet what can he do to bring excitement to the manor his wife the baroness has an idea he can appoint a king of christmas a peasant to take his place and so begin twelve days of chaos anarchy and merriment inspired by the medieval tradition of appointing a lord of misrule carol ann duffy s warm and enchanting christmas poem takes us into a topsy turvy world of festivity and celebration where rules no longer apply with beautiful full colour illustrations by lara hawthorne throughout the king of christmas is the perfect gift this festive season an early collection from the poet laureate published for the first time by Picador as with her later collections the other country takes its readers on a journey that is both familiar yet surreal escorting us to the other country that is those places that we otherwise visit only in our memories or our minds it blurs the lines between fantasy and reality and as such can be both playful and provocative it is also however deeply intelligent honest and thoughtful with a deftness of tone and touch and an emotional yet unsentimental openness that makes this one of Carol Ann Duffy's most vivid and remarkable collections to date
