since its first publication in France in 1969 Fernand Point's Ma Gastronomie has taken its place among the true classics of French gastronomy. It is as celebrated for Point's wise, witty and provocative views on food as for his remarkable inventive recipes carefully compiled from his handwritten notes.

A delectable collection of food writing from the longtime New Yorker writer and National Book Award winner, the New York Times book reviewer Jane Kramer started cooking when she started writing. Her first dish, a tinned tuna curry, was assembled on a tiny stove in her graduate student apartment while she pondered her first writing assignment. From there, whether her travels took her to a tent settlement in the Sahara for an afternoon interview with an old Berber woman toiling over goat stew or to the great London restaurateur Yotam Ottolenghi's Notting Hill apartment where they assembled a buttered phylo and cheese tower called a mutabbaq, Jane always returned from the field with a new recipe. And usually a friend for the first time. Jane's beloved food pieces from her decades at the New Yorker are arranged in one place: a collection of definitive chef profiles, personal essays and gastronomic history that is at once deeply personal and humane. The reporter's kitchen follows Jane everywhere and throughout her career from her summer writing retreat in Umbria where Jane and her anthropologist husband host memorable expat thanksgivings in July to the Nordic coast where Jane and acclaimed Danish chef René Redzepi of Noma forage for edible sea grass. The reporter's kitchen is an important record of culture distilled through food around the world. It's welcoming and inevitably surprising. A joyous feast of food travel and human relationships. Kirkus Reviews

All chefs love and cherish cookbooks and increasingly cookbooks have become treasured manuals of the trade as well as beautiful art objects. The chef's library is the world's first attempt to bring together in a single volume a comprehensive collection of cookbooks that are highly rated and actually used by more than 70 renowned chefs around the world. Readers will discover the books that have galvanized acclaimed and brilliant culinary talents such as Daniel Humm, Jamie Oliver, Sean Brock, Michael Anthony, Tom Kerridge, Suzanne Goin, Tom Colicchio, and many others. Also featured are influential restaurant cookbooks, essential books on global cuisines and specialist culinary subjects, and historic favorites that have stood the test of time. Part reference, part culinary exploration, this book is a must have for any cookbook collector or passionate foodie.

Let's face it, setbacks happen and failure is always a possibility, but here's the good news: amazing success has been achieved by people who once fell flat on their faces. The secret lies in how we respond to life's bumps and pot holes and unwelcome detours from getting fired or losing a business to enduring a professional rejection or pursuing a passion that fails to pan out. Misfortune, it turns out, can be a springboard to success. In Rebounders, U.S. News World Report journalist Rick Newman examines the rise and fall and rise again of some of our most prolific and productive figures in order to demystify the anatomy of resilience. He identifies nine key traits found in people who bounce back that can transform a setback into the first step toward great accomplishment. Newman turns many well-worn axioms on their head as he shows how virtually anybody can improve their resilience and get better at turning adversity into personal and professional achievement. Setbacks can be a secret weapon; they often teach vital things you'll never learn in school, on the job, or from others. There are smart ways to fail. Once familiar with them, you'll be more comfortable taking risks and less discouraged if they don't pan out. Defensive pessimism trumps optimism. Planning for what could go wrong is often the best way to ensure that it doesn't. Knowing when to quit walking away at the right time can free the resources you need to exploit better opportunities. Own the suck when faced with true hardship. Taking command of the pain and sorrow rather than letting it command you lays the groundwork for ultimately rising above it. Each lesson is highlighted by candid and inspiring stories from notable people including musician lucinda williams tennis champ james blake inventor thomas edison army veteran and double amputee tammy duckworth and joe torre former manager of the new york yankees in this uncertain and unstable time rebounders lays out the new rules for success and equips you with the tools you need to get ahead and thrive
