a description and analysis of the transition process in slovenia this books gives a complete overview of the soils of slovenia from soil research history climate geology geomorphology major soil types soil maps soil properties classification fertility land use and vegetation soil management soils and humans soils and industries and future soils issues bogomil ferfila and paul phillips trace the course of the political economy of slovenia from its position as a constituent republic of the former socialist federal republic of yugoslavia through independence to its present status as an independent nation they emphasize slovenia s transition from a socialist self managed economy to a social market economy its approach to europe and consequent transformation of its economic institutions the book concludes with a discussion of slovenia s position within the world and european economies particularly its movement and policies toward integration into the european union filling a void in the literature on the transition of the slovenian economy and its institutions this volume will appeal to scholars and students of slovakia and economic development

one of europe s smallest countries with a population of less than 2 million slovenia has an ancient and distinct national culture traces of the slovene language are found in documents of the ninth century a system of peasant democracy is recorded in medieval times and a slovene bible appeared as early as 1557 slovene culture survived centuries of incorporation within the habsburg empire emerging as an independent state in 1991 at the breakup of the remnants of tito s yugoslavia slovenia now faces the challenge of defining itself as a sovereign country within the new europe as it deals with problems of political and economic transition from both the communist period and the dissolution of the yugoslav federation this comprehensive introduction to the history culture and politics of slovenia shows how slovenes are working to become part of europe while striving to preserve their distinctive culture coalition government among different political parties is the way most european democracies are governed traditionally the study of coalition politics has been focused on western europe coalition governance in central eastern europe brings the study of the full coalition life cycle to a region that has undergone tremendous political transformation but which has not been studied from this perspective the volume covers bulgaria estonia the czech republic latvia lithuania hungary poland romania slovakia and slovenia it provides information and analyses of the coalition life cycle from pre electoral alliances to coalition formation and portfolio distribution governing in coalitions the stages that eventually lead to government termination and the electoral performance of coalition parties in central eastern europe few single party cabinets form and there have been only a few early elections the evidence provided shows that coalition partners in the region write formal agreements coalition agreements to an extent that is similar to the patterns that we find in western europe but also that they adhere less closely to these contracts while the research on western europe tends to stress that coalition partners emphasize coalition compromise and mutual supervision there is more evidence of ministerial government by individual ministers and their parties there are also some systems where coalition governance is heavily dominated by the prime minister no previous study has covered the full coalition life cycle in all of the ten countries with as much detail systematic information is presented in 10 figures and in more than one hundred tables comparative politics is a series for researchers teachers and students of political science that deals with contemporary government and politics global in scope books in the series are characterised by a stress on comparative analysis and strong methodological rigour the series is published in association with the european consortium for political research for more information visit ecpr.net/eu the series is edited by emilie van haute professor of political science universite libre de bruxelles ferdinand muller rommel director of the center for the study of democracy leuphana university and susan scarrow john and rebecca moores professor of political science university of houston
