the following tale contains materials for a full sized novel but my readers probably will not object to have them condensed into a single modest volume the scene of a considerable portion of the story is laid on the coast of ireland where the peasantry mostly speak the native irish and i have therefore translated what my characters say into ordinary english rather than into the generally received brogue which would be coming from their lips as inappropriate as spanish or dutch when english is spoken it sounds somewhat high flown but is certainly purer than the language of the same class in england thus my hero talks more like a well educated young gentleman than a humble fisher lad if that is considered a defect i hope that it may be redeemed by the stirring incidents with which the tale abounds and that old and young may alike find as much amusement as they expect in its
