at the beginning of a new writing project whether it s the first page of a new novel or a less ambitious project writers often experience exhilaration fear or dread for kristjana gunnars the call of a new project is like someone you don t know knocking on your door you either choose to let the person in or not it s both exciting and dangerous to start a new manuscript this book is an engagement with that stranger called writing creative or imaginative writing is a complex process that involves more than intellect alone writers make use of everything their sensibilities history culture knowledge experience education and even their biology these essays seek out and gather into a discussion what writers have said about their own experiences in writing although the writers are from around the world and of very different backgrounds the commonality of their remarks brings home the realization that writers everywhere are grappling with similar problems with the seemingly simple problems of when where why and what to write but also larger questions such as the relationship between writer and society or issues of privacy appropriation or homelessness while none of these questions can be definitively answered they can be fruitfully discussed originating as questions posed in creative writing seminars these essays have grown into companion texts for both writers and readers who want to participate in a conversation about what writers do in her groundbreaking book the right to write julia cameron dismantled the mythology surrounding the writing life in our culture tackling issues such as time mood inspiration and support she revealed that writing is in fact a natural and crucial part of life questions of how when and why yielded to the virtual tool kit of strategies tips and tools she provides in this extremely valuable book with the writer s life cameron s pivotal insights and pointers are distilled in a tiny portable companion that will help readers lead a writer s life more easily joyfully and powerfully in its creative integration of the disciplines of writing rhetoric and theology writing theology well provides a standard text for theological educators engaged in the teaching and mentoring of writing across the theological curriculum as a theological rhetoric it will also encourage excellence in theological writing in the public domain by helping to equip students for their wider vocations as writers preachers and communicators in a variety of ministerial and professional contexts
