this scholarly monograph on the ukranian born russian diarist artist and sculptor marie bashkirtseff 1858 1884 makes an important contribution to a better understanding of the life and art of this important figure as well as to the general fields of art history social history and also women's studies through its depiction of how a woman attempted to chart her own course as an artist in the male dominated world of french society bashkirtseff s whole approach to life was that of an artist with her very person itself being a work of art that was on exhibit for the world to see the author s fascinating work examines the many ways that bashkirtseff used the techniques of what she terms disguise and disclosure as she experimented with a variety of constructions of herself as a number of different characters over her short life the twenty six illustrations that have been included in this book will add greatly to its value

marie bashkirtseff was of one of the most extraordinary women of the 19th century her journal originally comprising some 20 000 hand written pages but pared down to a few hundred for publication was a cause célèbre after her death and continues to be an inspiration to the women s movement to this day it also inspired such great writers as anaïs nin and katherine mansfield among many others born into an aristocratic family in a village in ukraine the family soon settled in france first in nice and later in paris taught entirely by tutors marie spoke multiple languages played numerous musical instruments and longed for a singing career on the stage an illness that affected her throat made her change course and she took up painting for which she had a latent talent as a student at the académie julian in paris she was soon exhibiting at the annual paris salon the premier venue for artists but it was her personality that makes marie bashkirtseff such an exceptional individual at a very young age she was already exhibiting in her journal the thoughts of a learned philosopher wrestling with the nature of god the position of women in society the politics of men having contracted tuberculosis in early childhood she ceaselessly strove to shrug it off in her quest to achieve greatness in the end a great tragedy unfolds the book is somewhat unique in format the first part is a biographical section that describes marie s unusual and fascinating life then a second section consists of a single journal excerpt in english translation from the original french on each left hand page juxtaposed with one of her outstanding works of art on the facing page in this manner we learn about her remarkable life and tribulations enter her restive and brilliant mind via her journal as well as appreciate her exceptionally fine works as an artist a biography of marie bashkirtseff inspired from her day to day journal she was a child prodigy of precocious intelligence with glowing will and extreme intensity of life marie bashkirtseff a ukrainian diarist painter and sculptor an excerpt from book beginning at twelve years old wrote her journal ingenuously sincerely amusing us by her whims thrilling us by her enthusiasms touching us by her sufferings we have gone through these note books bound in white parchment slightly discolored like the winding sheet in which sleeps a memory and have already gathered a volume precious not because it describes such an entertainment or such an event but because it reveals the mentality of a young girl i must tell you that ever since baden i have thought of nothing except the duc de h in the afternoon i studied i did not go out except for half an hour on the terrace i am very unhappy to day i am in a terrible state of mind if this keeps on i don t know what will become of me how fortunate people who have no secrets are oh god in mercy save me reading life writing that runs from tracey emin faith ringgold and judy chicago to marie bashkirtseff benvenuto cellini and beyond artists and their autobiographies from today to the renaissance and back investigates the intriguing doubled truths of artists autobiographies truth in life and truth in art authorial truth s and the truth of their art as they saw it however this book focuses specifically on the truth of sincerity which here following classic discussions by reinert dhondt philippe lejeune and lionel trilling appears as a truth to self that floats free from facts to link avowal and feeling from there this volume merges autobiography studies with a history of ideas approach to art to trace sincerity s constancy and variability across times and cultures through this pre disciplinary dialogue this book shows that recent and historical artists autobiographies differ in how not if they intertwine sincerity in life and art along the way this volume leverages the foregrounding of sincerity caused by this doubling to explore such key issues of autobiography studies as autobiography s relation to fiction serial autobiography as told to narrative and what happens when liars claim to tell all five months before her death of tuberculosis in 1884 marie bashkirtseff an aspiring artist and a would be mondaine composed a preface to her personal diary in it she brazenly declared that in the event of her early death her diary was to be published three years later a truncated version of the diary appeared translated into english championed by barres and gladstone taken up by young diarists from france to the us the diary created a major sensation remaining standard reading for young women in both the anglophone and francophone worlds until the 1930s the first full length study to explore the questions that reading bashkirtseff s journal raises with respect to both genre and gender construction personal effects examines the genre and gender issues at stake in bashkirtseff s bid to go public with the personal and explores the discursive strategies by which bashkirtseff writes her journal from the private context of its keeping to a public context of reading wilson reads the diary as a performance of writing one in which a display of the personal mediates between the subjective and the social the private and the public what did reading mean to the victorians this question is the key point of departure for reading and the victorians an examination of the era when reading underwent a swifter and more radical transformation than at any other moment in history with book production handed over to the machines and mass education boosting literacy to unprecedented levels the norms of modern reading were being established essays examine the impact of tallow candles on victorian reading the reading practices encouraged by mudie s select library and feminist periodicals the relationship between author and reader as reflected in manuscript revisions and corrections the experience of reading women s diaries models of literacy in our mutual friend the implications of reading marks in victorian texts how computer technology has assisted the study of nineteenth century reading practices how gladstone read his personal library and what contemporary non academic readers might owe to victorian ideals of reading and community reading forms a genuine meeting place for historians literary scholars theorists librarians and historians of the book and this diverse collection examines nineteenth century reading in all its personal historical literary and material contexts while also asking fundamental questions about how we read the victorians reading in the present day
