in most languages we find little words which resemble a full word but which cannot stand on their own instead they have to lean on a neighbouring word like the d ve and unstressed em of kim d ve helped em kim would have helped them these are clitics and they are found in most of the world s languages in english the clitic forms appear in the same place in the sentence that the full form of the word would appear in but in many languages clitics obey quite separate rules of placement this book is the first introduction to clitics providing a complete summary of their properties their uses the reasons why they are of interest to linguists and the various theoretical approaches that have been proposed for them the book describes a whole host of clitic systems and presents data from over 100 languages demonstrating the range of linguistic and semiotic practices which are deployed in the construction of war memory the burden of traumas investigates the discourses of remembering that are enculturated in the everyday lives of the people of bosnia herzegovina maida kosatica explores how the memory and narratives of the bosnian war 1992 5 convey and renegotiate historical acts of violence in quite ordinary banal ways and extend the war into the present day reintroducing the concept of traumascapes this book demonstrates that semiotic landscapes are marked by traumatic legacies of violence in which the sense of trauma establishes its meaning through the discourses of remembering in this context this book argues that discourses of remembering whether constructed in physical or virtual spaces stem simultaneously from personal and collective needs to follow moral orders and responsibility as well as from political pedagogical and economic demands six short stories around the topic vreme which has two meanings in serbian time and weather the first short story vreme zauvek tells about time and weather in a positive and life affirming tone and is dedicated to the famous serbian writer and journalist dušan radović the second short story vreme ujutro tells about a very specific moment in the morning that each of us knows well when we are supposed to get up from the warm bed the third short story vreme u snu tells of an unusual dream and time in that dream the fourth short story deals with a card playing group and their special philosophy of life the fifth story is a tale about a special relationship with time the last short story vremena is a conversation of two ladies one called weather and one called time the short stories are written in both latin and cyrillic script and at the end of the book there is the vocabulary list with the translation into english as a supplement to the idemo dalje series this reading book is a valuable part of the serbian reader collection as part of a comprehensive series idemo dalje includes textbooks reading materials audio books interactive e books videos and other media resources that offer a holistic approach to learning serbian as a foreign language if you would like to learn more about this series of books and other publications for learning serbian please visit our homepage serbianreader.com
