this is a complete grammatical description of marathi which belongs to the indo european family and is spoken in maharashtra state in india it has around 45 million speakers who comprise about eight per cent of the total population of india marathi is particularly interesting from the point of view of its structure it is a blending of linguistic features of the indo european and dravidian language families marathi provides fascinating data for the study of language typology structural change and language universals

this collection of twelve essays some of which have been written specifically for this volume by well known european and north american sociolinguists reflects an increasing recognition within the field that sociological and theoretical innocence can no longer be underwritten by it and offers a multi pronged and multi methodological way to move towards a critical reflexive and theoretically responsible socio linguistics it explores with courage and sensitivity some very important areas in the enormous space between bloomfieldian idiolect and chomskyan ug in order to situate the human linguistic enterprise and offers valuable insights into human linguisticity and sociality these explorations expose the limits of correlationism determinism and positivistic reificationism and offer new ways of doing sociolinguistics intended for both practicing and future sociolinguists it is an ideal text book for the times particularly for graduate and advanced undergraduate students vitthal also called vithoba is the most popular god in the western indian state of maharashtra and the best known hindu god of that region outside of india this book by ramchandra chintaman dhere is the foremost study of the history of vitthal his worship and his worshippers conception of linguistic organisation involving the factorisation of syntactically relevant information into at least four parallel dimensions of structure the encyclopaedic dictionary of marathi literature has been developed with a specific planning to include not only men of letters but also all aspects characterising the growth of marathi literature it also presents a clear picture of development of marathi literature from early period to the present day the contributions of many poets writers playwrights essayist and critics are given along with their biographical accounts supported by bibliography it has successfully converted a long journey of marathi since saint dnyaneshwar to today s new little magazine movement the encyclopaedic dictionary serves the purpose of research and survey of marathi literature very well bringing in full contributions of progressive poets and writers it is bound to be gita for researchers as well as every common marathi individual as it has rich reference value taking the contentious debates surrounding historical evidence and history writing between secularists and hindu nationalists as a starting point this book seeks to understand the origins of a growing historical consciousness in contemporary india especially amongst hindus the broad question it poses is why has history become such an important site of identity conflict and self definition amongst modern hindus especially when hinduism is known to have been notoriously impervious to history as modern ideas regarding notions of history came to india with colonialism it turns to the colonial period as the moment of encounter with such ideas the book examines three distinct moments in the hindu self through the lives and writings of lower caste public figure jotiba phule moderate nationalist m g ranade and hindu nationalist v d savarkar through a close reading of original writings speeches and biographical material it is demonstrated that these three individuals were engaged with a modern historical and rationalist approach however the same material is also used to argue that phule and ranade viewed religion as living contemporaneous and capable of informing both their personal and political lives savarkar the explicitly hindu leader on the contrary held hindu practices and traditions in contempt confining them to historical analysis while denying any role for religion as spirituality or morality in contemporary political life while providing some historical context this volume highlights the philosophical political ideas and actions of the three individuals discussed it integrates aspects of their lives as central to understanding their politics for the first time in a single volume this book presents the various arguments in the indo aryan controversy it also provides a template for the basic issues addressing four major areas archaeological research linguistic issues the interpretation of vedic texts in their historical contexts and ideological roots the volume ends with a plea for a return to civility in the debates which have become increasingly and unproductively politicized and suggests a program of research and inquiry upon which scholars from all sides of the debate might embark singing a hindu nation is a study of ranullnullriya kirtan a western indian performance medium that combines song hindu philosophical discourse and nationalist storytelling beginning during the anti colonial movement of the late nineteenth century performers of ranullnullriya kirtan led masses of marathi speaking people in temples and streets and they have continued to preach and sing nationalism as devotion in the post colonial era and into the twenty first century in this book author anna schultz demonstrates how through this particular form of musical performance the political becomes devotional and explores why it motivates people to action and violence through both historical and ethnographic studies schultz shows that ranullnullriya kirtan has been especially successful in combining these two realms because kirtankars perform as representatives of the divine sage narad thereby infusing their nationalist messages with ritual weight by speaking and singing in regional idioms with rich associations for maharashtrian congregations they use music to combine political and religious signs in ways that seem natural and desirable promoting embodied experiences of nationalist devotion as the first monograph on music and hindu nationalism singing a hindu nation presents a rare glimpse into the lives and performance worlds of nationalists on the margins of all india political parties and cultural organizations and is an essential resource for ethnomusicologists as well as scholars of south asian studies religion and political theory this book is a challenging thought provoking yet highly accessible introduction to discrimination law it takes a thematic approach illuminating the major issues in discrimination law while imparting an in depth understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of legal responses to complex social problems of inequality this is enhanced by the comparative approach by considering equality law in the uk us india canada and south africa as well as the european union and under the european convention on human rights the book exposes common problems across different jurisdictions and canvasses a variety of differing solutions as in the highly successful previous editions the book locates discrimination law within its historical and social context one of its major strengths is the development of an analytic framework of substantive equality drawing on a range of sources and the author s wide experience of equality law in many jurisdictions as well as chapters charting the social challenges and legal responses the book compares the ways in which different jurisdictions formulate grounds of discrimination or protected characteristics the meaning of key concepts such as direct discrimination disparate treatment indirect discrimination disparate impact and when limitations on equality are legitimate later chapters test these concepts in some of the most challenging contexts pregnancy and parenting equal pay reasonable accommodation and sexual harassment as well as to the particularly controversial issue of affirmative action or deliberate preference policies discussing at length how racism sexism lgbtq rights and other topics impact these contexts the final chapter asks how the right to equality can be made more effective critically assessing the paradigm individual complaints model and possible alternatives from class actions and strategic litigation to mainstreaming and positive duties to promote equality
