the saying it s a jungle out there refers to a competitive environment in which you d better hone your skills if you hope to survive and you d better do what you can to keep a roof over your head food in your belly a leaf on your loins and a mate who ll help pass on your genes to the next generation of jungle jims and janes distinguished professor and cognitive psychologist david rosenbaum takes this metaphor of surviving in the wild and applies it to the competitive arena within the brain he argues that the overarching theory of biology darwin s theory should be the overarching theory of cognitive psychology the science of mental functioning he explores this new and intriguing idea by showing how neural elements compete and cooperate in a kind of inner jungle where only the fittest survive competition within your brain does as much to shape who you are as the physical and figurative competition you face externally just as the jungle night seethes with noisy creatures beckoning their mates issuing their warnings and settling their arguments you might have trouble falling asleep at night because the thoughts in your head are fighting for their chance at survival rosenbaum s pursuit of this bold idea explains why we are shaped into who we are for better or worse because we are the hosts of inner battlefields written in a light hearted tone and with reference to hypothetical neural creatures making their way in a tough environment rosenbaum makes cognitive psychology and his theory easy to understand and exciting to ponder rather than rely on the series of disconnected phenomena and collection of curiosities that often constitute cognitive psychology it s a jungle in there provides a fascinating way to place all cognitive phenomena under one flourishing tree intimate illuminating conversations with one of the most important voices in contemporary american poetry memory is one of the most pervasive and complex motifs in anton chekhov s prose this book clearly demonstrates that memory is not only a dominant theme but more significantly a structuring principle that shapes the poetic temporal and spatial composition of several of chekhov s stories from 1887 to 1904 including some of his best known works such as the bishop the lady with a lapdog the house with a mezzanine and the black monk chekhov and the poetics of memory examines various modes of memory nostalgic regenerative commemorative and traces their expression in the language of the journey prayer and artistic inspiration shedding light on the centrality of the themes of spiritual growth and moral action in chekhov s work in considering the larger theoretical and cultural context of memory this study breaks new ground in showing the impact on chekhov s work of the eastern orthodox religious tradition as well as henri bergson and other modernist notions of time and memory
