this volume brings together the recent essays of Richard Ned Lebow one of the leading scholars of international relations and US foreign policy Lebow's work has centred on the instrumental value of ethics in foreign policy decision making and the disastrous consequences which follow when ethical standards are flouted unlike most realists who have considered ethical considerations irrelevant in states calculations of their national interest Lebow has argued that self interest and hence national interest can only be formulated intelligently within a language of justice and morality the essays here build on this pervasive theme in Lebow's work by presenting his substantive and compelling critique of strategies of deterrence and compellence illustrating empirically and normatively how these strategies often produce results counter to those that are intended the last section of the book on counterfactuals brings together another set of related articles which continue to probe the relationship between ethics and policy they do so by exploring the contingency of events to suggest the subjective and often self fulfilling nature of the frameworks we use to evaluate policy choices how can we preach persuasively without huckstering manipulating or coercing people sadly we are seeing the fall of many pastors not for reasons of sexual immorality but the pursuit of pride and power the skillful use of marketing methods creates celebrity pastors who become significant influencers in the evangelical church the lure of success is seductive turning pastors into hucksters and Christians into consumers we need to heed the warnings of the New Testament about the pride of rhetoric and the pursuit of power David Christensen carefully analyzes the biblical warnings of Paul about the temptations of rhetorical sophistry in the first century church and applies them to pastoral ministry today God calls preachers to be ethical and effective persuaders David develops an ethical grid for pastoral persuasion using principles drawn from the Bible and social science along with practical illustrations from his years of ministry he calls preachers to be ethical and effective persuaders by emphasizing the centrality of the word of God while depending on the power of the spirit of God the way people persuade or influence others is about to change forever this book moves away from the traditional hit and miss methods of persuasion by applying real science to this fundamental business and life skill from a business perspective the very practical process described in this book allows anyone to rapidly create a truly persuasive message that is very easy to understand and highly influential because this proven methodology can be used to create very real business success it will become essential reading for leaders managers marketers and salesmen additionally the techniques described in this book can be used for almost any endeavour for instance you can apply these easy to use techniques to develop a winning presentation for a multi billion dollar contract or you can use the same types of approach to communicate more effectively with your spouse this is the power of the universal principles described in this book many scholars and practitioners opine that public relations are all about building and maintaining an organization's relationship with its public as human relationships depend on personal interactions so it naturally necessitates ethical as well as anthropological aspects in fact a vast majority of the scholars have already portrayed the ethical responsibility of the organization and the practitioner while dealing with various people but a few of them have pointed out that public relation is needed to view anthropological perspectives which in turn will be significant and virtuous for human beings accordingly practical functional approach is the foremost requirement to overcome in dealing with the public relationships therefore while exploring the public relations literature we have tried to integrate these three aspects relational ethical and anthropological and propose a reasonable ethical framework for the professional practice of public relations based on the dignity of the person the ability of the media to affect outcomes in economic and political markets has been well documented news reporting and advertising influence consumer behavior in goods and services markets by revealing or selectively revealing information about a product acting as agenda setters to influence consumer demand or enhancing competition in markets by alerting consumers to substitutes in political markets they can affect behavior by informing voters about a politician s views or actions enlightening citizens to outcomes of public policy or taking a stance on political social or economic issues for businesses households and most others the media is the main source of information on public policy choices and current social and economic conditions as a result what news the media chooses to gather analyze and disseminate and the slant they choose to put on what they report is of consequence information and public choice addresses the factors that affect the content and reach of news coverage as well as its impact on public policy the book addresses both market constraints that affect media particularly news content and the impact that news reporting has on economic and political choices the authors examine a range of issues including bias or slant in media reporting the impact of markets and nonmarket factors on news reporting and the role of government regulation of the media sector in developing countries the studies in this volume provide new evidence and a good summary of previous research on the power of the media an invaluable guide for those concerned about the impact of media on economic and political outcomes information and public choice draws attention to an under researched yet important area of economics
