as its title implies this book has a deceptively simple mission to prepare would be school leaders to draw upon a variety of theoretical perspectives when thinking about schools and schooling it shows how theories can function as cognitive tools to be mastered carefully stored in one's intellectual toolbox and used to interpret and resolve real world problems beneath this goal lies the belief that the most effective leaders are those who are able to construct their own well grounded interpretations of events and their own responses to those events key features of this exciting new text include the following focus on alternative theories the

functionalist theoretical views that have dominated administrator preparation programs for the last half century are reviewed early in the book and are shown to be inadequate to the task of understanding and coping with the complex realities of modern day schooling the remainder of the book presents alternative views of schooling that taken together can be thought of as a theoretical repertoire from which to construct interpretations and solutions to everyday real world problems focus on diversity diversity is examined from a variety of viewpoints chapter 6 looks at the cultural bases of leadership chapter 7 at comparative and international contexts and chapter 8 at gender and sexual orientation illustrative cases each chapter contains a case with an embedded dilemma similar to those that real world administrators confront while illustrating the particular theoretical view presented in the chapter these cases are sufficiently complex that they lend themselves to interpretation by any of the other theories considered in the book this book is appropriate for graduate level courses with titles such as organizational theory theory of school leadership or introduction to educational administration it might also be used as one of several texts in advanced courses on leadership theory for all the work on disability in previous years there had been surprisingly little done on a subject of central importance the social and psychological needs of teenagers with disabilities originally published in 1982 the purpose of this timely book was both to review the literature and to report an extensive study of the nature of the psychological problems the quality of social life and the adequacy of the services available to a substantial group of teenagers with disabilities in the last years at school with a follow up study of half their number a year later the authors show that many of these teenagers including those with a mild disability are often unhappy worried and isolated from their peers while the majority of the teenagers with disabilities whether in ordinary or special schools made friends at school these friendships were rarely sustained outside after leaving school the degree of social isolation is as great and often worse among these teenagers the incidence of psychological problems was three to four times higher than for a control group the most common being worry depression misery fearfulness and lack of self confidence and self esteem for the most part the teenagers with disabilities were likely to be immature and ill prepared to cope with adult life these findings underline the need for a counselling service while the teenagers are still at school and supporting services when they have left like other teenagers those in this study were unprepared for the possibility of not having a job and had not thought how to organize their lives if a job was not available or feasible the authors draw attention to the large proportion of people with disabilities without occupation after leaving school and the high dissatisfaction with day centres perhaps their most important finding is the need to rationalize the piecemeal and overlapping provision of help for school leavers with disabilities in the meantime their book provides a wealth of information of direct use to those concerned with teenagers with disabilities and their families whether in school provision careers advice work placement and alternatives to work social services counselling medical services and further education this book is a re issue originally published in 1982 the language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the publishers to any reader by this re publication the evolution of china s intellectual landscape especially the battles among different influential social and political ideas sheds light on its history leading schools of thought in contemporary china offers a close up look of eight major schools of thought that swept across china between 1978 and 2008 ranging from deng xiaoping s thoughts to neo confucianism subject to unrelenting debates among both scholars and the general public the popularity of these ideas waxed and waned throughout those turbulent decades they have two things in common first they are all problem oriented insofar as they carry their advocates hopes of finding in them solutions to both new and old problems the country has faced second while richly informed by such traditions as authoritarianism and confucianism that have long held sway in much of asia including china these ideas also reveal the deep influence of and even affinity with some of the most influential social and political theories in the western tradition including liberalism socialism and conservatism readers will find in the continuing contestation among these theories in the marketplace of ideas not only much of what is exciting about the intellectual scene in china today but also clues about china s future
