when people confabulate they make an ill grounded claim that they honestly believe is true for example recalling an event from their childhood that never actually happened this interdisciplinary book brings together some of the leading thinkers on confabulation in neuroscience psychiatry psychology philosophy transgender studies broadly defined has become increasingly prominent as a field of study over the past several decades particularly in the last ten years the experiences and rights of trans people have also increasingly become the subject of news coverage such as the ability of trans people to access restrooms their participation in the military the issuing of driver's licenses that allow a third gender option the growing visibility of nonbinary trans teens the denial of gender affirming health care to trans youth and the media's misgendering of trans actors with more and more trans people being open about their gender identities doctors nurses psychologists social workers counselors educators higher education administrators student affairs personnel and others are increasingly working with trans individuals who are out but many professionals have little formal training or awareness of the life experiences and needs of the trans population this can seriously interfere with open communications between trans people and service providers and can negatively impact trans people's health outcomes and well being as well as interfere with their educational and career success and advancement having an authoritative academic resource like the sage encyclopedia of trans studies can go a long way toward correcting misconceptions and providing information that is otherwise not readily available this encyclopedia featuring more than 300 well researched articles takes an interdisciplinary and intersectional approach to trans studies entries address a wide range of topics from broad concepts e.g. the criminal justice system activism mental health to specific subjects e.g. the trans pride flag the informed consent model voice therapy to key historical figures events and organizations e.g. lili elbe the stonewall riots black lives matter entries focus on diverse lives identities and contexts including the experiences of trans people in different racial religious and sexual communities in the united states and the variety of ways that gender is expressed in other countries among the fields of studies covered are psychology sociology history family studies k-12 and higher education law political science medicine economics literature popular culture the media and sports hailed as groundbreaking upon its original release the oscar winning film boys don't cry offered the first mainstream access to transmasculine embodiment in north america one that many simultaneously celebrated and rejected more than two decades after its original release the film has become a lightning rod for contemporary debates about the representation of trans lives and deaths on screen representational possibilities for trans people have changed dramatically since 1999 morgan page and chase joynt approach the accumulated tension with a spirit of curiosity about the limits of these historical returns they argue that new visibilities of transness on screen require us to re-engage earlier portrayals boys don't cry is central to conversations about casting violence against gender non-conforming people and the borders between butch and trans identities acknowledging a younger generation of queer and trans people who are straining against the images foisted upon them including this film's egregious violence and an older cohort for whom it remains a formative if complicated touchstone joynt and page revisit the original contexts of production and distribution to unsettle the overdetermined ways the work has been understood and interpreted boys don't cry ultimately relocates the film in a way that attends to the story's violence and values both on and off screen collects walter feinberg's classic writings on the meaning of democracy for public education for over fifty years walter feinberg has been a leader in interpreting democracy in and its meaning for public education in this collection feinberg explores the question of how to study education the necessary role of history and philosophy in this endeavor and the need for educational theorists to engage with the lived realities of students parents and teachers through philosophical anthropology he demonstrates a particular way of paying attention to public education that brings an interpretive sensitivity for others to the big philosophical questions of what public schooling should be in democratic societies feinberg explores many of the central questions that vex educational policy and practice what should be the purpose of public schools what should we think of school choice proposals what are the relationships between religion and public schools should schools promote an american identity how should we think about affirmative action in this tour of educational ideas democracy is the central concern as it both presents questions that demand answers and becomes an approach to studying education with rigor and sensitivity originally published between 1961 and 1984 the critically acclaimed collected writings of walt whitman captures every facet of one of america s most important poets in discussing letter writing whitman made his own views clear simplicity and naturalness were his guidelines i like my letters to be personal very personal and then stop the six volumes in the correspondence comprise nearly 3 000 letters written over a half century revealing whitman the person as no other documents can be true to yourself it is a dictum so ubiquitous that it can seem like both philosophical wisdom and an empty truism should we aspire to an ideal of living authentically what does it mean to be true to yourself against authenticity why you shouldn t be yourself is a philosophical exploration and critique of the ideal of authenticity simon feldman argues that if being true to ourselves is a matter of maintaining a strong will being psychologically independent achieving self knowledge or being morally conscientious then the best lives we can lead should be expected to involve substantial inauthenticity feldman suggests that various construals of the ideal of authenticity presuppose metaphysically confused notions of the self for example that there is a determinate true self and that under the guise of indisputable wisdom the ideal perpetuates both objectionably relativistic as well as reactionary moral thinking feldman concludes that the ideal of authenticity is one that we would be better off abandoning independent of our other moral or ethical commitments with implications for every reader s conception of authenticity and identity against authenticity is an exciting challenge for students and scholars of ethics metaethics metaphysics and moral psychology this book is meant to provide an overview of and gather the literature on abortion one of the most divisive issues of our times honest women and men the world over must deal with this issue in their hearts and minds whether or not they ever face the issue personally it is hard to conceive of a single thinking person who doesn t have an opinion on abortion usually strongly held the arguments are cogent on both sides of the issue we hope that this collection will bring to the attention of readers the publications which shed light on the fundamental issues involved this book offers a systematic critique of recent interventionist just war theories which have made the recourse to force easier to justify the work argues that these theories including neo traditionalist prerogatives to national leaders and a cosmopolitan human rights paradigm offer criteria for war that are insufficient in principle and dangerous in practice drawing on a plurality of moral considerations the book recommends a modified legalist national defense paradigm which includes an atrocity threshold for humanitarian intervention and a legitimate authorization requirement the plausibility of this restrictive framework is applied to case studies including the long wars in iraq and afghanistan ongoing targeted killing and possible interventions in syria and elsewhere various arguments which seek to loosen the criteria for war are also systematically analyzed and criticized this book will be of much interest to students of just war theory military history ethics political philosophy and international relations this book examines new classical macroeconomics from a comparative and critical point of view that confronts the original texts and later comments as a first dimension of comparison the second dimension appears in a historical context since none of the new classical doctrines can be analyzed ignoring the parallelism and discrepancies with the theory of keynes friedman or phelps radicalism of new classical macroeconomics has brought fundamental changes in economic thought but the doctrines got vulgarized and distorted thanks to the mass of followers nowadays economic theory and policy trying to find their ways have a less clear relationship than ever therefore this volume is aimed at mapping and reconsidering the policy instruments and transmission mechanisms offered by the new classicals its central question points to the real nature of new classical macroeconomics what consequences are grounded by the assumptions new classicals used moreover issues raised by automatic fiscal stabilizers and fiscal reforms are analyzed as well even if they were out of the range of classical texts the book draws a picture of new classical macroeconomics stressing the analogies with keynesian countercyclical policies instead of the discrepancies commonly held criminal law and criminal justice morals and policy goes beyond the traditional criminal law textbook and invites students to question why we criminalise certain behaviour and whether the decisions made by the courts can be justified according to legal principle morals and policy providing an overview not only of the legal doctrine of criminal law but also of the underpinning theory behind the legal doctrine the book encourages critical thinking around the context behind and implementation of legal decisions it applies this to current issues such as respect for personal autonomy prevention of domestic abuse and discouraging gang activity whilst providing a clear overview of the law relating to actus reus mens rea property offences homicide non fatal offences sexual offences accessory liability and defences using hypothetical scenarios students will develop an understanding of why certain rules exist and then be able to critically analyse why certain behaviour is criminalised an in depth study of several key cases will show how the rules and theory play out in practice and students will examine how morals and policy have influenced these decisions featuring thinking points as well as further reading suggestions this textbook is suitable for all students of criminal law as well as for those studying jurisprudence essays on american booksellers and librarians in addition to book collectors and bibliographers discusses how collectors booksellers bibliographers and librarians interact as well as the bibliophile's role in scholarship provides information on the history of book culture in america like most discussions within the tradition of rights talk this study is motivated by the desire to promote the idea that rights are moral assets that people should acquire in the course of their membership within social and political frameworks however while most participants in rights talk concentrate on the safety and protection constraints required for a successful exercising of rights the present study inquires into the circumstances under which people's rights lose their validity the author believes that if we want to prevent the erosion of the role of rights within society and to encourage their obligatory status we should prevent their misuse or their unjustified or excessive use those who have interests in rights and are concerned about their withdrawal or denial will find a unique and inventive way of dealing both with the use as well as the abuse of rights this extraordinary collection of essays by trans jews and allies explores cutting edge ideas about gender through the lenses of tradition art autobiography and solidarity it features an analysis of biblical and rabbinic thinking sample rituals guidance on jewish practice spoken word poetry music trans jewish history psychology and personal stories the contributing voices are richly diverse and include transpioneer kate bornstein a drag queen rabbi jews by choice jews of color the jewish consultant to the show transparent orthodox jews a jewish priestess and a metropolitan community church minister each page reveals startling fresh insights into the construction and disruption of gender from a jewish perspective the revised edition of the ontological foundation of ethics politics and law adds new concepts and discusses the views of additional thinkers the author refers to his basic ontological conception of the human mind or spirit as an evolving conscious triadic entity composed of intellect sensitivity and power each exerting a bidirectional selfish and moral activity through this approach the notions of good morality society and law are derived from the structure and functioning of the mind it follows that the solutions presented are the results of a discovery and not the consequence of a choice otherwise stated ethics politics and law are given an ontological foundation for each topic considered belfiore shows how his thought can reinterpret the views of other philosophers this new edition enriched in concepts and quotations appears as an innovative and highly stimulating contribution to the philosophical branches of ethics politics and law and will be of interest to both graduate students and philosophy scholars with a focus on the liminality of justice in trauma this collective volume probes into the complex liminal status of victim forced victimizer in trauma a new opening well deserving critical attention and scrutinizes how novelists tackle with literary representations the relevant issues of injustice in trauma the contributions in this collection present theoretical re-visionings of trauma and critical studies on trauma literature ranging from field work on cambodia's genocide to literary analyses of aids literature contemporary american literature contemporary canadian literature and indigenous writing in canada retribution is perhaps the most popular contemporary theory about punishment and has enjoyed enduring appeal as the oldest even most venerable penal theory with its strong ancient roots retribution is understood in many different ways but the standard view of retribution is that punishment is justified where it is deserved and an offender should be punished in proportion to his desert in this volume retributivism is examined from various critical perspectives including its diversity relation with desert the link between desert and proportionality retributivist emotions and the idea of mercy the theory of retribution has been the subject of a revival of interest in recent years and the essays selected for this volume are the leading works on retribution from the dominant international figures in the field
