the attention of many in the church has been misdirected away from the love of god to the love of money wealth and possessions yes god does bless his people but false prophets false doctrines the spirit of deception and greed in the heart is causing many individuals to forget the purpose of god s call he first called us to his son jesus then to salvation love mercy forgiveness humility and in this process he will provide for us so that we do not have to sell our souls to survive or have what we need sometimes we look more at what we want than what we really need we need him the lord everything else comes with having him first what message are churches giving to the younger generations the children grandchildren and great grandchildren of some of god s people are learning one lesson one bad lesson that god is a bank where they can go only to make withdrawals and never make a deposit a deposit of their lives to him for when their needs are met they do not return to the house of god again until there s another need the churches must change from sending this kind of message especially to the younger generations greed and the love of money can lead us down the wrong path and blind us in jesus s temptation in the wilderness satan offered him all the kingdoms and riches of the world jesus rejected and refused all of it because he loved the father more and he did not want anything from satan would you want a friend husband wife etc to love you because of what they can get from you i would hope that the church all the body of christ would more and more see god as the loving father that he is forgiving merciful long suffering and always waiting for us to come and not look at him as someone we go to only when we need something the lord god and his son jesus are to be loved worshipped praised and adored to all the sheep apostles prophets pastors evangelists teachers and all the body of the lord jesus who have lost sight of who the lord is and have lost sight of the purpose of his call let the word of god restore the vision of himself to you again traditional scholarship often points to the calvinists and max weber s writing on the protestant ethic as the catalysts to changing christian attitudes concerning profit seeking and wealth author skip worden argues that the seeds of this change occurred centuries earlier from the beginning of the commercial revolution to the fifteenth century renaissance he shows that the predominant christian thought on economics went through a fundamental shift becoming favorable toward profit seeking and wealth holding worden discusses this dramatic change and explains how the general antagonism toward the pursuit of wealth before the commercial revolution transformed into protestant theologians fighting against the prevailing view of a pro wealth paradigm during the fifteenth century worden contends that the shift away from the patristic view of wealth occurred well before the addition of the calvinist spirit of capitalism and the puritan work ethic into christian economic vernacular drawing on plato cicero and augustine early protestant theologians unsuccessfully sought to check the rising dominance of the pro wealth christian paradigm which they believed had been pushed too far these theologians of the sixteenth and seventeenth century felt it was too close to advocating love of gain itself something too close to the sin of greed how well the reformation succeeded can be assessed by worden s insightful concluding study of john d rockefeller the ascetic steward of god s gold in the form of monopoly
