how can we help our kids develop the right habits and money management skills that will allow them to thrive financially in the real world? Parents know the importance of making their children financially literate at a young age yet for most parents providing financial training to their children remains a mystery. Following the wild success of Finance 101 for Kids, author Walter Andal's vision of guiding young minds to personal financial empowerment continues in this second installment. This latest inception takes everything we learned in the original book and applies it to real life situations. Kids will have fun while learning practical financial lessons that they can bring forth into their adult lives. In Finance 102 for Kids, children and parents will learn how to spend wisely and live within your means, how to determine the real cost of a purchase and make informed decisions, different ways to stretch your money's worth, how to resist unhealthy media and social influence, how to make credit cards work for you, the power of saving, investing and compound interest, how to protect your money, property and reputation, things beyond money that can make you rich and so much more. This book is essential for parents who want their kids to flourish financially. Give your children the tools they need today and set them up for financial success.

Teach Me How to Money Now is compiled with the money saving lessons I have learned and applied in my personal life throughout the years. These lessons will teach children and adults how important it is to be financially literate and responsible. I have often questioned why this vital life skill is not taught in schools with the same emphasis as math or reading. You may not need to use algebra every day in your life after high school but you will always have to use money.

Rich Kids Made Simple: The Ultimate Money Lessons to Life Hack Any Kid's Future Success by Joe Correa. This book will teach you the 5 most powerful money rules in the world that will change your kid's financial world forever. Financial education is not about teaching kids how to get what they want; it is about teaching them how to get what is worth having. What are your kids learning in school? Are they learning about saving, planning, investing or becoming leaders? Are they learning how to start their own business or how to become good employees? Are they learning how to manage credit or to accumulate credit card debt? Are they learning how to solve their financial problems or simply accumulate debt until they go bankrupt? Are they learning how to save on taxes or to pay as much taxes as possible? You should think about what your kids are learning every day because they will grow up fast and the opportunity to help them to become financially prepared will be gone. Own your future, own your life, own your money. Most people live their lives with money as their master. Money tells them to go to work.

money makes them get out of bed money even makes them lose their hair gain weight and stress all day should your kids go through the same money problems most adults go through should they have to suffer the consequences of a missed education why not invest in their future by helping them learn to lead a fulfilling financial life this book will cover the most important things kids will need to learn about money
