antitrust is fast becoming a trending topic with over 120 countries having already adopted some form of competition legislation this volume brings together carefully selected articles which reflect the evolution and progression of the regulation of joint conduct under competition law on both sides of the atlantic and which discuss principles of fundamental importance for antitrust law the articles focus on various kinds of joint conduct between companies which might bear negative effects on competition in particular on horizontal cartels and collusion between competitors attention is also paid to the debate surrounding the most adequate approach for vertical agreements which take place between firms operating at different levels of production their effects on competition have traditionally been one of the most disputed issues in modern antitrust and tend to divide the principal schools of thought that have influenced the evolution of competition policy around the world the articles look primarily at two of the most established antitrust jurisdictions namely the united states and the european union they discuss the general theoretical framework that has influenced the evolution of the law and policy cover the most relevant practical developments provide contrasting doctrinal views and pay particular attention to the main schools of thought that have influenced antitrust in the us and the eu and are representative of the leading discussions in the course of antitrust history while forces of globalization have created a genuine global marketplace global rules safeguarding the competitive process in this marketplace have not emerged international cooperation among national regulators and enforcers is therefore needed to create a competitive global business environment the future of international competition law enforcement using the variety of legal instruments available to the eu as a point of departure undertakes an original assessment of the eu s cooperation agreements in the field of competition law the work s focus is on the bilateral sphere often labelled as a mere interim solution awaiting a global agreement further attention is given to competition provisions in free trade agreements as well as the main multilateral initiatives in this field in order to determine their relative value this book sheds new light on a major issue on the international trade policy agenda the promotion and defence of competition in globalizing markets this book examines one of the classical issues in theoretical welfare economics the effects on social welfare of increasing competition between firms the author explores whether promoting competition is in fact desirable an issue which is central to modern debates about the role of markets the desirability of competition an idea which can be traced back to adam smith is widely accepted resulting in the widespread belief that by increasing interfirm competition we may always improve social welfare however this is challenged by another piece of conventional wisdom which claims that excessive competition is as harmful as insufficient competition the work will be of interest to researchers and practitioners working in industrial organization and welfare economics this volume contains papers presented at the 18th annual eu competition law and policy workshop the papers examine means of balancing effective public competition law enforcement and the requirements of legitimate and accountable exercise of public authority the authors address the design and performance of various enforcement tools at european and national levels including sanctions and remedies but also distinctive instruments under regulation 1 2003 eg commitment procedures and under the treaty on the functioning of the european union article 106 3 when used as a basis for infringement procedures from the perspective of legitimacy reflections focus on the implications of fundamental rights standards and general principles of law for the eu s complex and quasi federal enforcement architecture issues that may sometimes escape judicial scrutiny are also discussed such as how agencies prioritise their activities and how investigation responsibilities are distributed within the european competition network effectiveness and legitimacy are then considered in the context of public enforcement cooperation beyond the eu where international organisations regional cooperation and a range of formal and informal modes of governance prevail the study outlines the status quo of international cooperation in competition law matters this is done by examining in chronological order the various approaches of the many multi and bi lateral international agreements that have attempted to solve the problems of competition law wto gatt etc subsequently the focus of this thesis is on the analysis of bilateral trade agreements within the framework of this analysis the potential of trade agreements for competition law cooperation is to be shown for this reason only those bilateral trade agreements are analyzed that deal with the topic of regulatory cooperation in competition law in specially provided competition chapters in doing so the different stages of cooperation will be analyzed along the different integration phases of any trade agreements the highest form of trade agreement integration customs unions will be dealt with separately using the eu as an example cartels trusts and agreements to reduce competition between firms have existed for centuries but became particularly prevalent toward the end of the 19th century in the mid 20th century governments began to use so called cartel registers to monitor and regulate their behaviour this book provides cases studies from more than a dozen countries to examine the emergence application and eventual decline of this form of regulation beginning with a comparison of the attitudes to regulation that led to monitoring rather than prohibiting cartels this book examines the international studies on cartels undertaken by the league of nations before world war ii this is followed by a series of studies on the context of the registers including the international context of the european union and the importance of lobby groups in shaping regulatory outcomes using finland as an example section two provides a broad international comparison of several countries registers with individual studies on norway australia japan germany sweden and the netherlands after examining the impact of registration on business behaviour in the insurance industry this book concludes with an overview of the lessons to be learnt from 20th century efforts to regulate competition with a foreword by harm schroter this book outlines the rise and fall of a system that allowed nations to tailor their approach to regulating competition to their individual circumstances whilst also responding to the pressures of globalisation that emerged after the second world war this book is suitable for those who are interested in and study economic history international economics and business history chapter 10 of this book is freely available as a downloadable open access pdf at taylorfrancis com under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4 0 license
