the term metafiction invaded the vocabulary of literary criticism around 1970 yet the textual strategies involved in turning fiction back onto itself can be traced through several centuries in this theoretical critical study robert c spires examines the nature of metafiction and chronicles its evolution in spain from the time of cervantes to the 1970s when the obsession with novelistic self commentary culminated in an important literary movement the critical portions of this study focus primarily on twentieth century works included are analyses of unamuno s niebla jarnés s locura y muerte de nadie and la novia del viento torrente ballester s don juan cunquero s un hombre que se parecía a orestes and three novels from the self referential movement of the 1970s juan goytisolo s juan sin tierra luis goytisolo s la colera de aquiles and martín gaité s el cuarto de atrás seeking a stronger theoretical basis for his critical readings spires offers a sharpened definition of the term metafiction the mode arises he declares through an intentional violation of the boundaries that normally separate the worlds of the author the fiction and the reader building on theoretical foundations laid by frye scholes genette and others spires also proposes a literary paradigm that places metafiction in a position intermediate between fiction and literary theory these theoretical formulations place spires s book in the forefront of critical thought at the same time his full scale analyses of spanish metafictional works will be welcomed by hispanists and other students of world literature postmodernity in latin america contests the prevailing understanding of the relationship between postmodernity and latin america by focusing on recent developments in latin american and particularly argentine political and literary culture while european and north american theorists of postmodernity generally view latin american fiction without regard for its political and cultural context latin americanists often either uncritically apply the concept of postmodernity to latin american literature and society or reject it in an equally uncritical fashion the result has been both a limited understanding of the literature and an impoverished notion of postmodernity santiago colás challenges both of these approaches and corrects their consequent distortions by locating argentine postmodernity in the cultural dynamics of resistance as it operates within and against local expressions of late capitalism focusing on literature colás uses julio cortázar s hopscotch to characterize modernity for latin america as a whole manuel puig s kiss of the spider woman to identify the transition to a more localized postmodernity and ricardo piglia s artificial respiration to exemplify the cultural coordinates of postmodernity in argentina informed by the cycle of political transformation beginning with the cuban revolution including its effects on peronism to the period of dictatorship and finally to redemocratization colás s examination of this literary progression leads to the reconstruction of three significant moments in the history of argentina his analysis provokes both a revised understanding of that history and the recognition that multiple meanings of postmodernity must be understood in ways that incorporate the complexity of regional differences offering a new voice in the debate over postmodernity one that challenges that debate s leading thinkers postmodernity in latin america will be of particular interest to students of latin american literature and to scholars in all disciplines concerned with theories of the postmodern queer spaces are crucial for the construction of lgbtq communities as they constitute places where queer subjects can create political social and affective alliances júlia braga neves shows how these spaces are pivotal for the representation of queer history in the fictional works by the british authors sarah waters and alan hollinghurst whose characters and plots are articulated through and within london s sexual geographies considering the intersection between gender sexuality and class this study engages with spatial queer feminist and marxist theories as a means to reflect on london queer historiography and the relationship between subject and urban space despite the prominence given to it recently by mikhail bakhtin and northrop frye menippean satire remains a neglected and misunderstood genre focusing on the eighteenth century writers john dunton thomas d urfey and laurence Sterne menippean satire and the poetics of wit explores the excesses of these eccentric transgressive writers who take their readers to the limits of language as the outlaw of genre menippean satire exploits the improprieties supplied by a self conscious use of wit the principle of exuberance in eighteenth century poetics in fact the exuberance of wit produces menippean satire s central paradox that self conscious writers lose their identity in the very pursuit of it by tracing wit s exuberance through its abusive metaphors or catachreses to the abusive ideologies of class and gender this genre study provides a literary tradition for the postmodern deconstructive project
