narrative perspective is the faculty through which humans understand structure and explore the world that confronts them this is the first volume to bring together the theoretical study of perspective with the rigor of experimental studies combining work in narratology with that in linguistics philosophy film studies literary theory and cognitive psychology the chapters are grouped thematically and drawn together by the editors who provide guidance through this new and fascinating interdisciplinary territory why is it that we tend to think about our lives as stories why do we strive to create coherent narratives that reflect a particular perspective what happens when we discover multiple perhaps conflicting perspectives in our narratives following groundbreaking work in the study of narrative identity in the last 20 years the scholars of this volume have expanded and merged their theories of narrative identity with new perspectives in fields such as narratology literary theory philosophy cultural studies psychology sociology gender studies and history their contributions focus on the significance of perspective in the formation of narrative identities probing the stratagems and narrative means of individuals in testing out personae for themselves

there is often a communication disconnect between medical caregivers including doctors nurses therapists and other assistive medical personnel and the patient while medical staff usually understand a patient's symptoms causes and treatments communicating this understanding to a patient using industry terminologies can lead to confusion and misunderstanding and similarly patients may lack the vocabulary to effectively communicate their experiences back to their caregivers a new approach to communication must be bridged between these groups by individuals who have experience on both sides of the conversation previous studies of doctors who end up in the role of the patient reveal how these individuals have a dual perspective on illness combining their medical knowledge with their own personal medical experiences narratives including autobiographical accounts and fictional stories can help bridge the gap between experiential and academic knowledge of illness by expanding one's limited perspective and accessing others points of view autobiographical and fictional narratives can both play a role in developing a more comprehensive understanding of illness beyond simply treating the disease it is necessary to further examine the ethical and methodological underpinnings of narrative based interventions in the education of healthcare professionals practitioners and patients global perspectives on probing narratives in healthcare offers a multidisciplinary examination of theoretical and methodological uses of narratives in healthcare by bringing together medical aspects of healthcare and the study of arts and humanities this illustrates specific applications of narratives in healthcare settings including improvement of clinical skills performance of the caring role and self efficacy for building a true partnership in the patient's health journey through varied approaches up to date tools and resources that can be transferred and adapted to specific educational and healthcare contexts this diverse collection of expert knowledge and experience is led by editors with over 20 years of teaching experience dr teresa casal of the university of lisbon portugal and dr maria de jesus cabral of the university of minho portugal expertise featured in this book includes contributions from some of the most prestigious academic institutions including columbia university in the united states king's college in the united kingdom university of padua in italy and more it is an essential resource for healthcare and social science researchers academics advanced healthcare students health training and education departments healthcare practitioners and patients associations and policymakers in healthcare who are looking to broaden their scope of understanding of the patient experience the book offers a novel approach to the question of how to model narrativity against the background of perspectivization by bringing together contributions from neuro and cognitive linguistics literary studies and picture theory the volume uncovers basic mechanisms of perspectivization that are common to the different levels of linguistic structure literary novels and narrative pictures as such it is also a book on narrative perspectivization since its contributions examine in detail the perspectival principles in medieval romantic and postmodern literature in the micro linguistic structure of language narrative pictures literary novels dramatic texts and everyday stories in doing so it contributes both to the theoretical debate on the core definition of narrativity and offers new empirical investigations on perspectival principles in specific historical medial and genre constellations this volume will be of interest to scholars and students of cognitive linguistics narrative research and transmedial narratology cognitive poetics and stylistics thesis m a from the year 2006 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 1 3 university of paderborn 205 entries in the bibliography language english abstract ever since mcewan's first publications his work has received considerable attention from critics and scholars thus it is not surprising that mcewan has been awarded with a number of prizes for his work and that he has been praised to be one of the leading representatives of the young generation despite the extraordinary praise of mcewan's work it has been discussed most controversially the fact that he often engages taboo subjects like masturbation incest regression child abuse dismemberment sadism masochism etc earned mcewan the reputation of an author who writes to shock his audience mcewan himself appears to be surprised about these attributions and objects them however it seems to be undisputable that the narrations are extremely shocking but it seems that not only the choice of topics is responsible for the extreme response to mcewan's narrations in my opinion the shock value of mcewan's narrations is mainly caused by his particular way to present these topics in keeping with this i consider the form of mcewan's narrations to be as important as their content mcewan seems to experiment with the employment of perspectives subjective perspectives in particular in fact it can be argued that he taps the full potential of the employment of subjective perspectives in his narrations as the reader is confronted with the subjectivity of perspectives on all levels of textual communication in my opinion mcewan's most outstanding accomplishment is his ability of depicting subjective perspectives in all consequence the absence of morality in many of mcewan's narrations for example which is usually regarded as an underlying topic can also be seen as a result of depicting consistently a specific subjective perspective therefore this paper will exa
