general international law is part and parcel of investor state arbitration this is the case not only regarding treaty law and state responsibility but also with respect to matters such as state succession the international minimum standard and state immunity all of which feature regularly in investor state arbitration yet although general international law issues arise in almost every investment case and often require extensive research no systematic exploration of the relationship between the two exists this commentary is the first to fill this gap providing a comprehensive treatment of the role of general international law in international investment law it engages in detail with central matters of general international law including in the practice of investment arbitration tribunals moving beyond existing works which focus solely on procedural and institutional provisions the commentary's forty six chapters do not focus on a single source or subject instead each concentrates on a specific relevant article from a particular source of public law such as the vienna convention on the law of treaties 1969 or the international law commission's articles on the responsibility of states for internationally wrongful acts 2001 among others the entries combine detailed analysis with an examination of procedural and substantive aspects such as nationality and unjust enrichment and respond to the following questions how have investment tribunals interpreted and applied the specific rule of general international law to what extent and why does such interpretation and application align with or deviate from the practice by other international courts or tribunals how could and should investment tribunals interpret and apply rules that have yet to feature in investment arbitration this unique format means this commentary will serve as a central guide for all relevant case law and scholarship on international investment law while international investment law is one of the most dynamic and thriving fields of international law it is increasingly criticized for failing to strike a fair balance between private property rights and the public interest proportionality is a tool to resolve conflicts between competing rights and interests this book assesses its current role its potential and its limits in investor state arbitration proportionality is often lauded for reconciling colliding interests this book identifies three factors arbitrators should consider before engaging in a proportionality analysis the rule of law the risk of judicial law making and the availability of a value system that guides the proportionality analysis apart from making suggestions when arbitrators should apply proportionality and when not to the book outlines what states can do to recalibrate the balance between private property rights and the public interest if they wish to do so without dismantling the current system of investor state arbitration proportionality in investor state arbitration considers whether and to what extent the notion of general principles of law within the meaning of article 38 1 c of the icj statute and the concept of systemic integration enshrined in article 31 3 c of the vienna convention on the law of treaties provides a valid legal foundation for applying proportionality in investor state arbitration
