increasingly young people live online with the vast majority of their social and cultural interactions conducted through means other than face to face conversation how does this transition impact the ways in which young migrants understand negotiate and perform identity that is the question taken up by digital passages migrant youth 20 a ground breaking analysis of the ways that youth culture online interacts with issues of diaspora gender and belonging drawing on surveys in depth interviews and ethnography koen leurs builds an interdisciplinary portrait of online youth culture and the spaces it opens up for migrant youth to negotiate power relations and to promote intercultural understanding echoing events questions the perpetuation actualization and canonization of national narratives in english and dutch history textbooks wide reaching media that tendentially inspire a sense of meaning memory and thus also identity the longitudinal study begins in the 1920s when the league of nations launched several initiatives to reduce strong nationalistic visions in textbooks and ends in the new millennium with the revival of national narratives in both countries the analysis shows how and why textbook authors have narrated different histories which vary in terms of context epoch and place as echoing events by using recurring plots and the same combinations of historical analogies this innovative and original study thus investigates from a new angle the resistance of national narratives to change as teachers we often tend to expect other countries to teach chemistry in much the same way as we do but educational systems differ widely at bielefeld university we started a project to analyse the approach to chemical education in different countries from all over the world teaching chemistry around the world 25 countries have participated in the project the resulting country studies are presented in this book this book may be seen as a contribution to make the structure of chemistry teaching in numerous countries more transparent and to facilitate communication between these countries especially in the case of the school subject chemistry which is very unpopular on the one hand and occupies an exceptional position on the other hand due to its relevance to jobs and everyday life and most notably due to its importance for innovation capacity and problem solving we have to learn from each others educational systems this book studies young people who are not in education employment or training meet a prime concern among policymakers moving past common interpretations of neets as a homogeneous group it asks why some youth become neet whereas other do not the authors analyse diverse school to work patterns of young neets in five typical countries and investigate the role of individual characteristics countries institutions and policies and their complex interplay readers will come to understand youth marginalization as a process that may occur during the transition from school vocational college or university to work by studying longitudinal analyses of processes and transitions readers will gain the crucial insight that neets are not equally vulnerable and that most neets will find their way back to the labour market however they will also see that in all countries a group of long term neets exists these exceptionally vulnerable young people are sidelined from society and the labour market the country cases and cross national studies illustrate that policies intended to help long term neets to find their way in society are very limited the book provides useful theoretical and empirical insights for scholars interested in the school to work transition and marginalized youth it also provides helpful insights in vulnerability to policymakers who aim to combat youth marginalization the open access version of this book available at taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives 4.0 license
