amid the growing calls for a turn towards sustainable agriculture this book puts forth and discusses the concept of agrarian extractivism to help us identify and expose the predatory extractivist features of dominant agricultural development models

the concept goes beyond the more apparent features of monocultures and raw material exports to examine the inherent logic and underlying workings of a model based on the appropriation of an ever growing range of commodified and non commodified human and non human nature in an extractivist fashion such a process erodes the autonomy of resource dependent working people dispossesses the rural poor exhausts and expropriates nature and concentrates value in a few hands as a result of the unquenchable drive for profit by big business in many instances such extractivist dynamics are subsidized and or directly supported by the state while also dependent on the unpaid productive and reproductive labour of women children and elders exacerbating unequal class gender and generational relations rather than a one size fits all definition of agrarian extractivism this collection points to the diversity of extractivist features of corporate led external input dependent plantation agriculture across distinct socio ecological formations in latin america this timely challenge to the destructive dominant models of agricultural development will interest scholars activists researchers and students from across the fields of critical development studies rural studies environmental and sustainability studies and latin american studies among others the book presents an overview and historic perspectives of a novel scientific field coming of age today coastal and ocean management it covers diverse and changing issues ranging from conflict resolution to governance and ethical political imperatives natural disasters and climate change culminating in coastal and ocean typologies the basis for a future theory of coasts and oceans eighteen chapters written by two main authors in cooperation with international experts review 25 years of research the authors address challenges to society related to global change issues that have been generated by human activity in both temperate sweden germany and the united states and tropical regions brazil indonesia ultimately the book documents the maturation of a field and responds to changing societal needs and scientific outlooks it gathers recent analyses along with important earlier research with a foreword by biliana cicin sain and richard delaney globally renowned as coastal and ocean experts in theory and practice its broad approach makes the book a must read for graduate and postgraduate students as well as coastal management and marine spatial planning practitioners and for researchers in the
