gustavo costa reviewing the italian edition of vico s institutiones oratoriae in new vico studies 9 1991 has written that rhetoric is the mainspring of an important trend of vichian studies which initiated at the beginning of the twentieth century and had its manifestation in john d schaeffer s sensus communis vico rhetoric and the limits of relativism durham duke university press 1990 where schaeffer aptly noted summing up a long exegetic tradition vico was imbued with rhetoric and convinced of its centrality to western civilization unfortunately the editions of vico s works published in english have not yet included the institutiones oratoriae which more or less reflects the lectures on rhetoric given by vico at the university of naples starting with the academic year 1699 1700 and going through 1739 1741 the manual on rhetoric was used in italy up to the end of the nineteenth century and established the common curriculum in rhetoric to be followed in all universities this english edition offers a text of the institutiones complete on the base of the four known extant manuscripts it offers the marginal glosses made by vico s students a collection of vico s phrases and explanations of terms collected by some of the students a glossary of latin words and rhetorical terms from the latin text and a wealth of information in the commentary the art of rhetoric is the manual for everyone who wants to know what rhetoric is how it was employed in the forum or the courts how it could be learned from the classic orators and how it can be used whenever we speak for convincing praising or motivating recipient of the Charles J. Goodwin Award of Merit from the American Philological Association in 1975. The Goodwin Award is the only honor for scholarly achievement given by the Association. It is presented at the annual meeting for an outstanding contribution to classical scholarship published by a member of the Association within a period of three years before the ending of the preceding calendar year. A remarkable and valuable achievement, balanced in judgment and attractively presented. Journal of Roman Studies. This book is a reissue of the important 1972 work on the development of Greek and Latin oratory and rhetorical theory. Many students of the Classics and people interested in later European literatures as well will find themselves turning to it again and again. The Times Literary Supplement. George A. Kennedy is Paddison Professor of Classics Emeritus at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, an elected member of the American Philosophical Society, and fellow of the Rhetoric Society of America. Under Presidents Carter and Reagan, Dr. Kennedy served as member of the National Humanities Council. He was earlier president of the American Philological Association and of the International Society for the History of Rhetoric. He is author of 15 books, including Classical Rhetoric and Its Christian and Secular Tradition from Ancient to Modern Times, New Testament Interpretation through Rhetorical Criticism, Comparative Rhetoric: An Historical and Cross-Cultural Introduction, Aristotle on Rhetoric: A Theory of Civic Discourse, and Progymnasmata: Greek Textbooks of Prose Composition, as well as numerous articles and translations into English from Greek, Latin, and French.

The design arts, from the design of buildings and machines to software and interfaces, are associated with types of knowledge and performance thought to be structured, modular, and systematic. Such arts have become increasingly prestigious in our technocratic society. Since Aristotle, the art of rhetoric was conceived as a loosely structured, practical art, thought to be limited in the extent to which it could mimic more precise subject matters. The art of rhetoric has been controversial since classical times, but its status has sunk even lower since the industrial revolution, a point when civic cultures began to cede authority and control to the cultures of specialized experts. Many sympathizers of rhetoric have resisted its decline by calling for a civic art of public discourse to stand in opposition to a technocratic, specialized discourse that has come increasingly to disenfranchise the ordinary citizen. This is the first book to question the rhetoric-technical knowledge split from a more fundamental perspective, to get some perspective on what is at stake in rhetoric's traditional classification as a practical art. The authors explore the distinction between practical and design arts, enumerate the various criteria cited in the literature for qualifying a cluster of knowledge and performative skills to count as an art of design, show how the knowledge and performative skills associated with the art of rhetoric meet the major requirements of design knowledge, propose a general architecture of rhetorical design, one descriptive both of civic address and specialized academic argument, turn to the Lincoln douglas debates to embody and provide some empirical support and illustration for their architecture demonstrate how lincoln and douglas can be thought of as expert designers whose rhetoric is highly structured and modular and explain how the rhetoric of both rhetorical agents can be represented in the layers and modules that one needs to display plans for buildings software or other design artifacts these layers and modules are not just post hoc annotations of the debates they also illuminate new and systematic ways for viewing the debates and by implication other specimens of rhetoric in terms of strategies of artistic production kaufer and butler conclude their presentation by citing some of the research and educational implications that follow from housing rhetoric within the family of design arts in this seminal work of western philosophy aristotle focuses on the use of language in persuasive argument he identifies practical and aesthetic elements and their proper combination in an effective presentation
