this fascinating book explains the processes of suburbanization in the context of post socialist societies transitioning from one system of socio spatial order to another case studies of seven central and eastern europe city regions illuminate growth patterns and key conditions for the emergence of sprawl breaks new ground offering a systematic approach to the analysis of the global phenomenon of suburbanization in a post socialist context tracks the boom of the post socialist suburbs in seven cee capital city regions budapest ljubljana moscow prague sofia tallinn and warsaw situates the experience of the cee countries in the broader context of global urban change case studies examine the phenomenon of suburbanization along four main vectors of analysis related to development patterns driving forces consequences and impacts and management of suburbanization highlights the critical importance of public policies and planning on the spread of suburbanization the book explores both theoretically and empirically the impacts of housing reforms on housing provision in the context of the transition from a centrally planned to a market based economy fifteen years after the overthrow of state socialism housing policy has lost its privileged status of a political priority as most politically embedded systems had favoured market based solutions to housing problems this departure from state controlled housing policies with the aim of providing a dwelling for every family is significant particularly in some post socialist countries where no new housing policy has emerged the transition process embedded in the paradigm shift from central planning to markets has triggered off turbulence and adjustments with tangible outcomes in post socialist housing systems what has changed and what new housing systems have emerged during this dramatic transition to markets and democracy are these systems more efficient and equitable these questions are the main focus of the book with an emphasis on diversity and change in housing reforms the book supports the hypothesis that notions of convergence are not really appropriate to the conceptualisation of post socialist housing systems it argues that different housing policy choices are going to map out increasingly divergent scenario for future development
