in this guide two experienced school librarians provide a selection of books for librarians teachers and parents the fiction gateway is an essential resource that supports individual group and social reading program and provides an instant guide to matching children s interests with suitable reading material in early 1940s poland ten year old felix and his friend zelda escape from a cattle car headed to the nazi death camps and struggle to survive first on their own and then with genia a farmer with her own reasons for hating germans felix a jewish boy in poland in 1942 is hiding from the nazis in a catholic orphanage the only problem is that he doesn't know anything about the war and thinks he's only in the orphanage while his parents travel and try to salvage their bookselling business and when he thinks his parents are in danger felix sets off to warn them straight into the heart of nazi occupied poland to felix everything is a story why did he get a whole carrot in his soup it must be sign that his parents are coming to get him why are the nazis burning books they must be foreign librarians sent to clean out the orphanage's outdated library but as felix's journey gets increasingly dangerous he begins to see horrors that not even stories can explain despite his grim surroundings felix never loses hope morris gleitzman takes a painful subject and expertly turns it into a story filled with love friendship and even humor the second world war has officially ended but the streets are still a battleground for food for shelter for protection felix is in hiding to stay safe but finds he has been left holding the baby literally an orphaned infant has been left in his care and he will do everything he can to protect the child cultural encounters in translated children's literature offers a detailed and innovative model of analysis for examining the complexities of translating children's literature and sheds light on the interpretive choices at work in moving texts from one culture to another the core of the study addresses the issue of how images of a nation locale or country are constructed in translated children's literature with the translation of australian children's fiction into french serving as a case study issues examined include the selection of books for translation the relationship between children's books and the national and international publishing industry the packaging of translations and the importance of titles blurbs and covers the linguistic and stylistic features specific to translating for children intertextual references the function of the translation in the target culture didactic and pedagogical aims euphemistic language and explicitation and literariness in translated texts the findings of the case study suggest that the most common constructs of australia in french translations reveal a preponderance of traditional eurocentric signifiers that identify australia with the outback the antipodes the exotic the wild the unknown the void the end of the world the young and innocent nation and the far west contemporary signifiers that construct australia as urban multicultural aboriginal worldly and inharmonious are seriously under represented the study also shows that french translations are conventional conservative and didactic showing preference for an exotic rather than local specificity with systematic manipulation of australian referents betraying a perception of australia as antipodean rural exoticism the significance of the study lies in underscoring the manner in which a given culture is constructed in another cultural milieu especially through translated children's literature
