why was the allied naval assault of february march 1915 so unsuccessful did the ottoman turks have knowledge of the allied landings of 25 april 1915 and did sir ian hamilton the overall commander of the allied forces at gallipoli really make a mistake in his intervention at suvla these questions and the key issue of why the ottoman turks won the 1915 gallipoli campaign or why the allies lost it have never been satisfactorily answered this new history of the gallipoli campaign aims to answer them while also telling the story of what actually happened through the voices of british australian and turkish soldiers in order to properly understand the bloody events of 1915 tim travers is the first historian of gallipoli to use the general staff ottoman archives in ankara to tell the other side of the story wide ranging research in the turkish archives as well as those in australia britain france and new zealand plus a significant newly discovered german source has produced a startling new interpretation of the 1915 conflict moving from a study of the western front tim travers has produced a challenging analysis of the enduring mysteries of the gallipoli campaign in early august 1915 after months of stalemate in the trenches on gallipoli british and dominion troops launched a series of assaults in an all out attempt to break the deadlock and achieve a decisive victory the august offensive resulted in heartbreaking failure and costly losses on both sides many of the sites of the bloody struggle became famous names lone pine the nek chunuk bair hill 60 suvla bay debate has continued to the present day over the strategy and planning the real or illusory opportunities for success and the causes of failure in what became the last throw of the dice for the allies some argue that these costly attacks were a lost opportunity others maintain that the outcomes were simply inevitable this new book about the gallipoli battles arises out of a major international conference at the Australian War Memorial in 2010 to mark the 95th anniversary of the gallipoli campaign the conference drew leading military historians from around the world to bring multi national viewpoints to the many intriguing questions still debated about gallipoli keynote speaker professor robin prior of the university of adelaide author of gallipoli the end of the myth 2009 led a range of international authorities from australia new zealand britain france germany india and turkey to present their most recent research findings the result was significant never before had such a range of views been presented with fresh german and turkish perspectives offered alongside those of british and australasian historians for the resulting book the papers have been edited and the text has been augmented with soldiers letters and diary accounts as well as a large number of photographs and maps this book addresses the conflicts myths and memories that grew out of the great war in ottoman turkey and their legacies in society and politics it is the third volume in a series dedicated to the combined analysis of the ottoman great war and the armenian genocide in australia and new zealand and even more in the post ottoman middle east the memory of the first world war still has an immediacy that it has long lost in europe for the post ottoman regions the first of the two world wars which ended ottoman rule was the formative experience this volume analyses this complex configuration why these entanglements became possible how shared or even contradictory memories have been constructed over the past hundred years and how differing historiographies have developed remembering the great war in the middle east reaches towards a new conceptualization of the long last ottoman decade 1912-22 one that places this era and its actors more firmly at the center instead of on the periphery of a history of a greater europe a history comprising as contemporary maps did europe russia and the ottoman world our friend the enemy is the first detailed history of the gallipoli campaign at anzac since charles bean's official history viewed from both sides of the wire and described in first hand accounts australian captain herbert layh recounted that as they approached the beach on 25 april that once we were behind cover the turks turned their fire on us and gave us a lively 10 minutes a poor chap next to me was hit three times he begged me to shoot him but luckily for him a fourth bullet got him and put him out of his pain later that day sergeant charles saunders a new zealand engineer described his first taste of battle the turks were entrenched some 50-100 yards from the edge of the face of the gully and their machine guns swept the edges line after line of our men went up some lines didn't take two paces over the crest when down they went to a man and on came another line gunner recep trudal of the turkish 27th regiment wrote of the fierce turkish counter attack on 19 may designed to push the anzacs back into the sea it started at morning prayer call time and then it went on and on never stopped you know there was no break for eating or anything attack was our command that was what the pasha said once he says attack you attack and you either die or you survive the new zealand soldiers who left these shores to fight in the first world war represented one of the greatest collective endeavours in the nation's history over 100 000 men and women would embark for overseas service and almost 60 000 of them became casualties for a small nation like new zealand this was a tragedy on an unimagined scale using their personal testimony this book reveals what these men experienced the truth of their lives in battle at rest at their best and their worst through a comprehensive and sympathetic scrutiny of new zealand soldiers correspondence diaries and memoirs a compelling picture of the new zealand soldier's war from general to private is revealed this is not a campaign history of dry facts and detail rather it examines minutely the everyday experience of trench life in all its shapes and forms diverse topics such as barbed wire the use of the bayonet gas attacks rats horses food communal singing infectious diseases and much more feature in this riveting account of the new zealand soldier in the first world war it is the story of ordinary men thrust into the most extraordinary circumstances imaginable written in an accessible style aimed at the interested general reader the book is the product of a substantial amount of research the text is complemented by a range of maps illustrations graphs and diagrams the august offensive or anzac breakout at gallipoli was an attempt to break the stalemate of the campaign it saw some of the bloodiest fighting since the landing as commonwealth and turkish troops fought desperate battles at lone pine german officers trench turkish quinn s the chessboard the nek the farm hill q chunuk bair and hill 971 the offensive was designed to allow the allied forces to break out of the anzac beachhead below the sari bair range the capture of chunuk bair by the new zealanders resulted in some of the bloodiest fighting at gallipoli and was key to the entire august offensive while it was taken and held for a few days it s recapture by the turks on 10 august 1915 decided the fate of the gallipoli campaign within four months the allies were forced to evacuate the peninsula leaving it to the turks a decisive victory for the ottoman empire death on bloody ridge chunuk bair the battle that decided the fate of the gallipoli campaign focuses solely on this one decisive battle
