excerpt from principles of english composition through analysis and synthesis a text book for the senior classes of elementary schools and for pupil teachers as a means of teaching composition and the principles that govern sentence structure analysis of sentences has completely broken down and become outside the teaching profession entirely discredited pupils parse and parse analyse and analyse for years of their school life and in the end are ignorant of what constitutes a good sentence and wholly without ability to write one the cause of this unsatisfactory result is not i think difficult to discover the parsing of single words however well done can be made to bear only on the syntax of single words quite a trifle in sentence structure analysis however includes single words phrases and clauses the whole mechanism of the sentence however complex and of course ought to bear on the syntax of the whole mechanism but unfortunately it has been made by the books to concern itself only with breaking down and classifying its sole aim has been to dismember the sentence and to place the disjecta membra under their appropriate headings this is all very well from the point of view that decomposition and classification are the sole end of grammar but ought they to be so regarded is not synthesis as important as analysis is it not necessary that the young student should be trained not only to decompose and classify but also to compose that is to arrange words phrases and clauses in their most effective setting about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works this book is in no respect an addition to the already large number of rhetorics and other works on the theory and mysteries of style it is strictly a manual for school work and has been made with special reference to the rational remodeling recently accomplished or now in the way of being accomplished in the courses of study in our public schools a remodeling in which language training for the first time receives the attention that is its due it is believed that inquiring teachers will find it in harmony with their views and aims it has seemed that there is need of a school manual of prose composition of medium size arranged on a simple and natural plan and designed not to teach the theory of style and criticism but to give schoolchildren between the ages of twelve and fifteen a fair mastery of the art of writing good english for the ordinary uses of life such 1b the present book it is believed that the books now form a closely connected series embodying a progressive course of development the outlines of which may be thus set forth 1 language primer mainly practice 2 new language lessons theory and practice i e grammar and composition in about equal proportions 3 new english grammar and new school composition the two studies differentiated but simultaneously pursued to the thousands of teachers who gave the language series a reception exceptional in the history of textbooks the new language series is submitted as being more worthy of their acceptance and a nearer approach to their ideal excerpt from practical english composition it is the purpose of this book to accomplish four things for the student i to give him continually increasing power in original composition 2 to train him in habits of accuracy in mechanical form spelling punctuation sentence structure 3 to develop his interest in good literature and 4 to stimulate his interest in the affairs of the world in which he lives from the beginning of the book to the end students are required to do creative work and are trained to select ar range and express ideas so as to make the best use of what they know the method of teaching is inductive models are used in such a way as to encourage and to develop original thought and expression no blind imitation of models is possible if the method of the book is followed this requires persistent effort along definitely indicated lines beginning with very simple work the exercises gradually increase in difficulty in both subject matter and technical requirement the assignments for student practice are varied and very extensive ranging from the practical to the theoretical from matters of everyday experience to matters of imagination and fancy the subjects assigned have been taken almost entirely from lists made out by students when asked to hand in subjects in which they were interested and on which they would like to write necessarily these subjects touch all phases of the lives of young people about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works at the request of friends i have prepared this short text book outlining the method of carrying forward the course and emphasizing the principles necessary for the intelligent communication of ideas it has not been the purpose to write a rhetoric the many fine distinctions and divisions the rarefied examples of very beautiful forms of language which a young pupil cannot possibly reproduce or even appreciate have been omitted to teach the methods of simple direct and accurate expression has been the purpose and this is all that can be expected of a high school course in english the teaching of composition differs from the teaching of latin or mathematics in this point whereas pupils can be compelled to solve a definite number of problems or to read a given number of lines it is not possible to compel expression of the full thought the full thought is made of an intellectual and an emotional element whatever is intellectual may be compelled page iv by dint of sheer purpose whatever is emotional must spring undriven by outside authority and uncomelled by inside determination a boy saws a cord of wood because he has been commanded by his father but he cannot laugh or cry because directed to do so by the same authority there must be the conditions which call forth smiles or tears so there must be the conditions which call forth the full expression of thought both what is intellectual and what is emotional this means that the subject shall be one of which the writer knows something and in which he is interested that the demands in the composition shall not be made a discouragement and that the teacher shall be competent and enthusiastic inspiring in each pupil a desire to say truly and adequately the best he thinks and feels excerpt from the teacher s assistant in english composition or easy rules for writing themes and composing exercises on subjects proper for the improvement of youth of both sexes at school to which are added hints for correcting and improving juvenile composition ting our thoughts upon paper in a clear and agreeable manner is of sufficient im portance in life to form part of a polite education nor can it be denied that this like every other accomplishment is in a great measure to be attained by rules and practice it is well known by those who have studied human nature that whatever is to be gained by habit can scarcely be taught too early and yet the habit of expressing our thoughts in an easy and regular way is generally either entirely neglected or the last thing thought of in a course of education it is a great mis about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
