After the death of Mahler in 1911, the great Austro-German symphonic line was carried on mainly in England, America, Scandinavia, and Russia. The Fifth Symphony of Carl Nielsen, a Danish composer, was composed in 1921. David Fanning discusses its place within the symphonic tradition since Beethoven, revealing the personal background to the work and taking account of the extensive Danish commentaries including the composer's own in an analysis of the music. He lays bare the origins of its images of inertia, anxiety, and collapse in Nielsen's tone poems and incidental music for the theatre. Insights are offered into the symphony's progressive tonality and its relationship to traditional structural models.
